Hancock, Bay, Pass schools get high marks

All schools in Pass, 2 in Hancock & one in Bay achieve Level 5 rating

BY SHANNON JENKINS
Staff Writer

Several schools in the area received Level 5 performance classifications on the state accountability model, which was released Thursday.

The Commission on School

Accreditation voted Friday on the performance classifications, which were still considered as preliminary.

The levels range from 1 (the lowest) to 5 (the highest). These levels are low performing, under performing, successful, exemplary and superior.

Of the 15 public schools in Hancock County and Pass Christian, seven received a Level 5 rating.

Hancock County foresters helped battle Montana's recent wildfires

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Not many people would consider fighting wildfires as a vacation destination, even in picturesque Montana, but not everyone is Hancock County Forester Mark Jamieson. Jamieson has been fighting wildfires since his first in Colorado in 1980 and has missed holidays, his anniversary, and even his own birthday celebration to pursue his dedication to protecting the nation's natural resources, wherever that may take him.

Most recently, Jamieson and crews from the Mississippi Forestry Commission and the Southern Area Type 1 Overhead Team joined crews from across the continental U.S. and Alaska in northern Montana to fight out of control wildfires near Glacier National Park near the Canadian border.

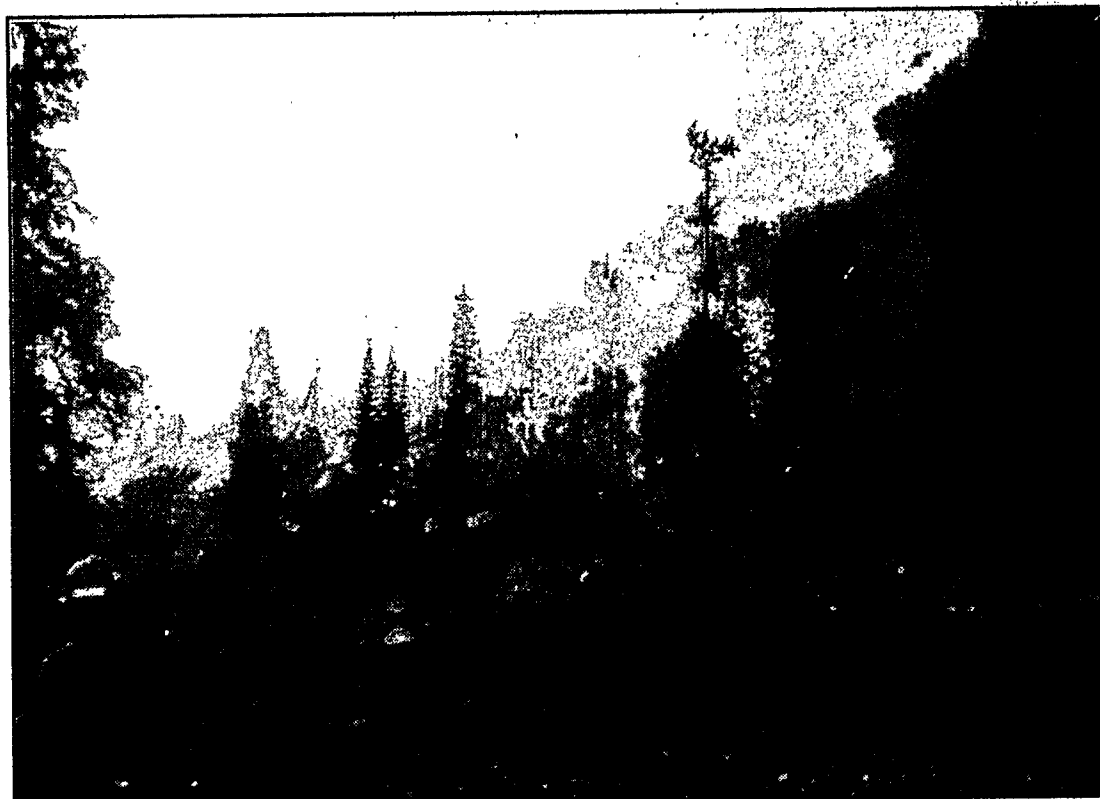

The "Robert" fire started just a few miles from the site of another large fire that destroyed thousands of acres about two years ago. When firefighters arrived at that fire it covered only 1,200 acres. Unable to contain it, it grew to more than 64,000 acres in just weeks.

Jamieson had been at that fire and hoped he could help ensure that the "Robert" fire didn't also burn out of control.

The teams were able to contain the "Robert" fire, finally after over a month of trying, to an area which is all inside a remote area of Glacier. Because the fire is no longer a threat to life and property, Jamieson said that the contained fire will be allowed to burn until it doused by the first snowfall, which could come at any time.

The fire began July 23, suspected cause, a lightning strike. Jamieson's crew arrived on August 11 to relieve an Alaskan crew. On August 14 he requested extra help and when the call came through that a hand tool crew had arrived, to Jamieson's surprise a fellow worker from Hancock County, Ranger 1 Pam Spencer, was one of the crew members. The two served two, two week assignments, and returned at the end of August.

Spencer was one of just nine women at the site. She has served with the

Forestry Commission about three years after answering an ad for the job, her first experience with fire fighting. She considers the opportunity to go out of state to fight wildfires an honor. Many people apply to be part of the crews, she said, and it is a privilege to get the opportunity to go.

Spencer said that though fighting wild fires is a way to make extra money, that could never be enough reason to make someone do it. You have to love what you are doing, she said.

Jamieson said he is so dedicated to fire fighting because as a forester, he is dedicated to protecting natural resources, saving lives and property.

"And if we had the wildfires here that they have out west I would want people to come and help us," he said. "It is a good feeling to have a success in containing the forces of nature and to be able to protect homes and lives and it is a challenge to figure out the strategy for doing so."

A typical day for a wild fire fighter begins early, at 5 or 5:30 a.m. and can continue well into the night. Sometime the choice at night is whether you have the energy to eat or to shower, said Jamieson. And since everyone else smells too, eating usually wins.

Postal Service seeks Diamondhead area Contract Postal Unit operator

The United States Postal Service is seeking a business to house and operate a Contract Postal Unit (CPU) in the Diamondhead, MS area.

The desired location is within close proximity to I-10 and the Diamondhead Shopping Center, according to Sarah Dafe, Retail Manager for the Mississippi District Office. Contract

Postal Units are operated by private businesses under a partnership with the Postal Service and provide a convenient outlet for customers to mail Priority Mail™, Express Mail® or international packages, as well as the purchase of stamps, money orders and most other services offered by USPS.

"Having a Contract

Postal Unit in your business is a great drawing card for customers and can really give the operator a competitive advantage by being able to offer one-stop shopping."

Interested business owners should call 601-351-7232 before September 17 to request a solicitation package or obtain additional information.

Port & Harbor budget cut by $3.5M

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
STAFF WRITER

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors gave final approval to the proposed $15,492,131 budget for the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission on Tuesday. Commissioners gave their approval to the budget last week.

The new 2003-2004 budget represents a $3 1/2 million cut from last year's budget of $18,914,053 due largely to the leveling off of many business activities bringing revenues down at the port and at the airport said director Hal Walters. Increased insurance costs caused cutbacks in other areas. Capital expenditures were the main area of cutbacks, said business manager Susie Veglia.

The general operating budget totals $1,023,246 and pays for the running of the main commission office which serves as the business office for all port areas, economic development activities and more. Some development activities include the securing of grants and low interest loans and recruiting businesses to the port and airport.

The railroad budget totals $4,532,977 and will go to complete such projects in progress as rail upgrades and replacements and to maintain rail operations.

An Industrial Park budget of $3,753,769 will fund ongoing projects such as road rehabilitation, an intermodal connector yard and new projects such as an upgrade to the domestic treatment plant and a tie in for GE to the PTOW.

Should additional funding become available upgrades to equipment sheds, pump stations, the south gate guard house and fencing at Linea are proposed.

An airport budget of $3,699,459 will be used to build offices in Hanger B, reconstruct Road A and expand the airport terminal parking area. Additional funding could add an air traffic control tower, an extension of Stennis Airport Rd. and a widened taxiway to the list of projects. Funds will also help complete the construction of an 18,000 sq. foot tech building, construction of a blast pad, the expansion of the main apron and reconstruction of the Hanger C apron.

Alleged meth-precursor purchases lead to drug arrests

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

Two Hancock County residents were arrested on Wednesday afternoon, following their making a large purchase of starter fluid and lithium batteries (contents used in manufacture of crystal meth), according to Sheriff Steve Garber.

"At around 1 p.m. on Sept. 3, the Hancock County Narcotics Division received a call from Bay St. Louis Police Sgt. Phillip Pavolini reporting he received word that someone had purchased half of a case of starter fluid from a Bay merchant. Sgt. Pavolini had Bay PD run a tag check and the vehicle came back as belonging to a Dawn M. Graham, of Kiln," Agent Clifton (Bubba) Malley, Narcotics Division Agent in charge of the investigation reports.

Malley said, "Myself and Agent Johnny Allison were followed by Director Major Matt Karl and Agent Chris Russell to Graham's residence."

Permission was received to search the vehicle and recovered from the trunk was 20 cans of starter fluid and 20 lithium batteries, (contents used in manufacturing of crystal meth).

Agents also recovered approximately one gram of crystal meth from the pockets of Pernell J. Ladner, who accompanied Graham, Malley said.

Ladner, 40, was charged with possession of a controlled substance and possession of precursors and bond was set at $50,000. Graham, 38, was charged with possession of precursors and her bond set at $25,000, Malley's report said.

Ladner and Graham were transported to the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility and later bonded out, according to Malley.

Garber warns of coming car license checks at area schools

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

Hancock County Sheriff Steve Garber has issued a warning to motorists with out-of-state license plates to the effect his department will be conducting checks at county schools within a few days.

In 2001 and 2003 the Sheriff's Department issued over 100 citations each year at the county schools during tag checks.

Garber said, "Out-of-state license plates on vehicles in the county are among the most common complaints the Sheriff's Department receives."

Students attending the county's school system must reside in the county, and it is illegal for a motorist residing in the county to have out-of-state license plates on their personal vehicles.

Garber said, "I realize the license plate checks at the schools may cause some inconvenience to motorists with proper tags, but this is a necessary procedure to help eliminate some of the tag problems."

State law gives new residents moving to the county 30 days to acquire new license plates for their vehicles. They have 60 days to obtain a Mississippi driver's license.

Garber indicated his department would have special deputy details to make the license plate checks at the schools.

Volunteers needed for Beach Cleanup

Once again we are approaching the annual Beach Cleanup and the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Beautification Committee is seeking volunteers.

This will mark the 15th Mississippi Coastal Cleanup for Hancock County to Participate in and the number of participants increase each year.

By the way, Hancock County is really one-up, since the Hancock County Chamber and Hancock County Sand Beach Committee co-sponsored a beach cleanup prior to the Coastal Cleanup.

This year's cleanup up day is Saturday, September 20, from 8 a.m. to about 11 a.m. or so.

Hancock County will have a dozen designated areas chaired by Zone Captains for the cleanup.

The place to sign up in advance is the Hancock County Chamber at 467-9048.

Following the cleanup at 11 a.m. in Hancock County, there will be a hot-dog cookout at foot of Washington Street and Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis by the American Legion property. The hot-dogs and refreshments will be furnished by our own U.S. Congressman Gene Taylor of Bay St. Louis.

I hope to see you at the cleanup on Saturday, September 20.

The cool breeze on Friday morning was a much welcomed sign of cooler days ahead.

I am sure we will still have hot days to look forward too within the next couple months, but not as hot as the two previous months.

This has just been a very hot summer, even with the unusual amount of rain.

Lawns have not been crying for moisture this year and grasses have been growing at a rapid pace.

Folks growing hay should have had a good year in growth.

Myself, I now much prefer warmer weather as I just do not like real cold temperatures. Yet, there was a time in younger days when I enjoyed the outdoors hunting and fishing in extreme winter weather.

Hopefully the cooler weather will stick around a few days.

Energy bill passed

The Gritted States Senate has finally passed an energy bill that helps establish America's first national energy policy.

I have forcefully advocated passage of a national energy bill for several years because America's growing dependence on foreign nations for our energy needs is very dangerous.

If not curtailed, our dependence could one day affect much more than just our pocketbook. Without energy policy, many questionable nations will seek to use our self-imposed energy dependence against us. Are we going to let them?

America has the ability to easily be more energy independent and less beholden to questionable foreign nations for oil.

We have vast oil and gas resources in the Gulf of Mexico, in Alaska, and even in places with small marginal oil and gas wells, like South Mississippi. We also have the technical skills to explore alternative energy sources, like wind, solar and even fuel cell power. If unaddressed, in the next decade our dependence on foreign energy sources is expected to top 60 percent.

That has serious implications not only on the price you and I pay at the pump or on our electric bill, but also for our national security.

The less we depend on unstable, sometimes hostile, nations for energy, the more secure we are as a nation. This bill will finally help us tap our potential and be less beholden to foreign powers for our vital energy needs. Using our own energy resources also will create about a half-million new jobs.

The facilitation of the construction of the Alaska Natural Gas Pipeline provided for in this bill will not only deliver natural gas to

FROM THE SENATE

By U.S. Senator
Trent Lott

the lower 48 states, but also will help create more than 400,000 jobs throughout the distribution chain.

The bill also calls for investment in research and development of new energy technologies, like solar power, wind power and fuel cells - also creating new jobs while advancing crucial technologies that will one day take the place of current energy resources.

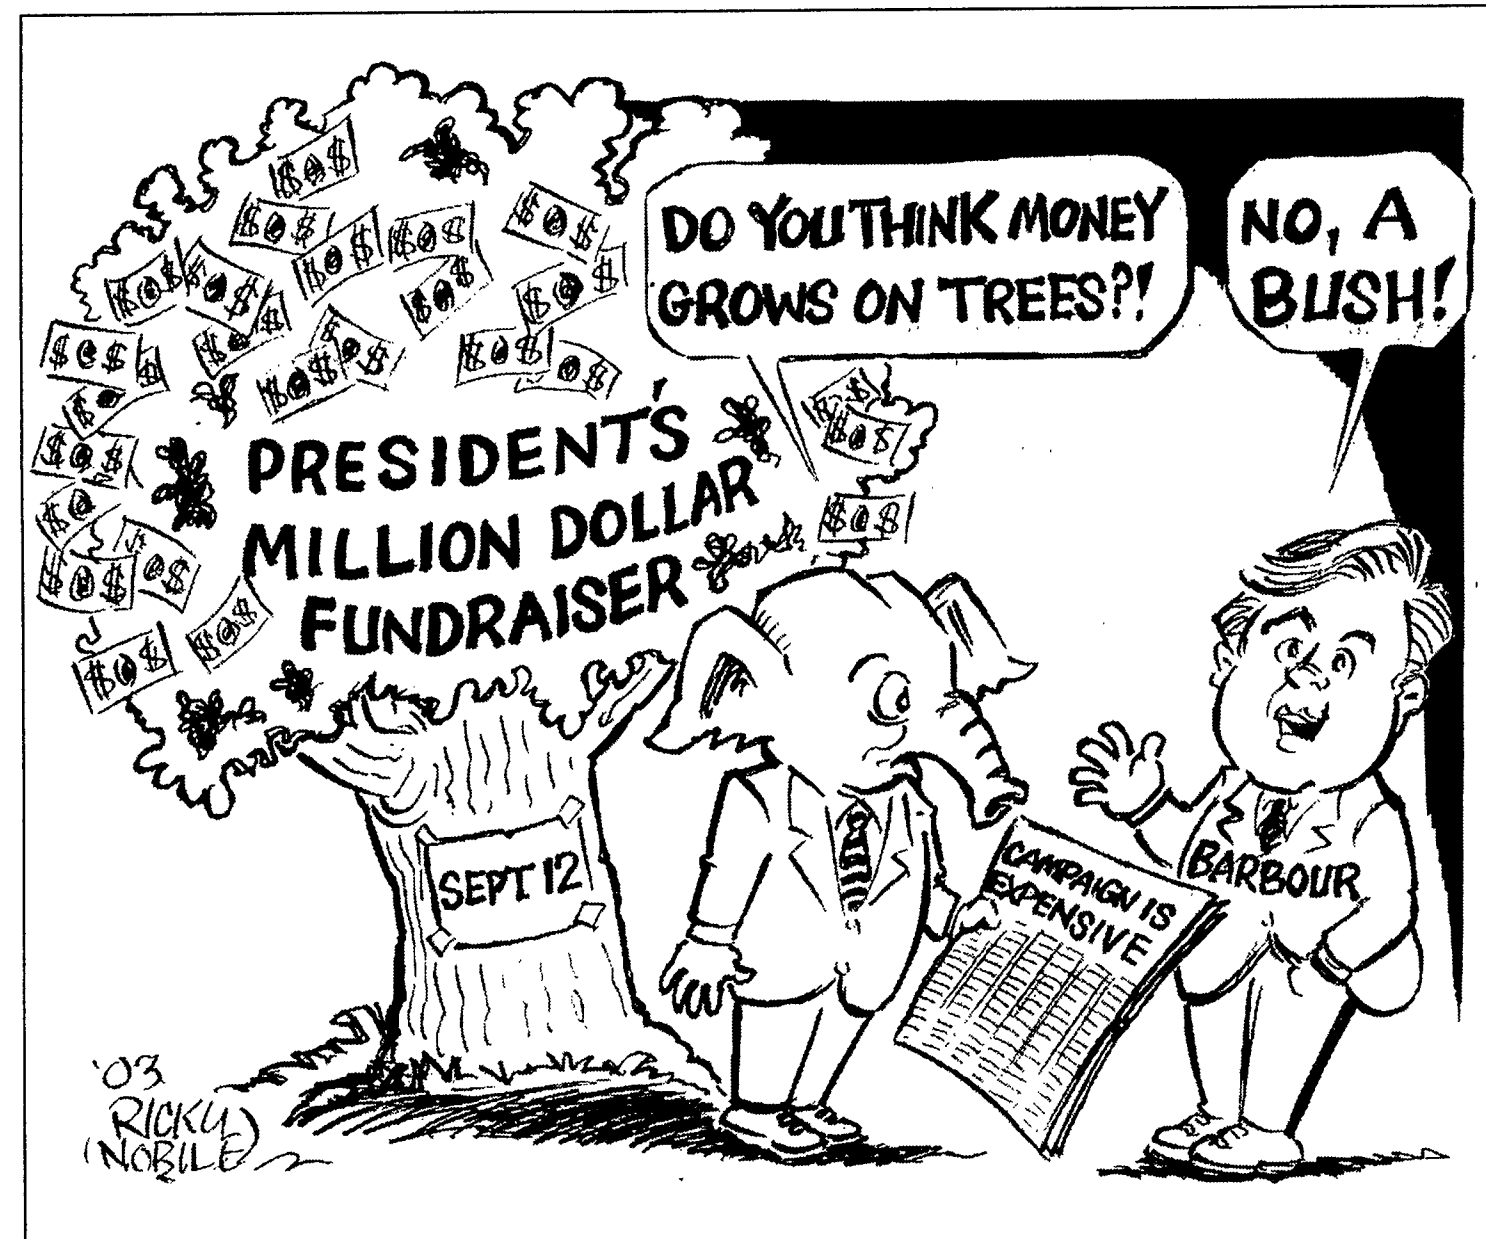

Throughout the energy debate, I have maintained that a realistic, workable and practical energy policy cannot be just abstract visions of solar panels on every roof by next year or of more folks using bicycles to commute.

These are simply not realistic goals, particularly in the short term. Instead, this bill provides real incentives for new technology and research, and it also provides for further investment in existing technologies that can make America more energy independent in the short term.

Incentives for more nuclear power, clean coal technology, and domestic oil and gas exploration are in the bill. Also included is a provision that will encourage production at marginal wells, like those we have in Mississippi. These oil and gas wells have only been pumping when prices are favorable and idled when prices are low. The energy bill encourages more usage

Waveland reader wants apology for misleading public or better explanation

Bill Minor using the John Stennis Institute of Government's report needs to apologize for misleading the public, or possibly explain it better. Maybe I'm dumb, but if we have a 7 percent sales tax, how can a person who earns $15,100, pay 11.6 percent in sales tax without spending twice what he has? I can believe that a family making $130,000 a year could possibly pay 7 percent in sales tax, but lets also talk about the state income tax, the federal income tax, the city and county property taxes, license fees, gasoline, etc. It is estimated that they will have to work almost five months to satisfy their taxes. Bill Minor, in his push to raise our state income tax, fails to mention Texas and Florida, which have outstripped the rest of the southern states that he compares, because they have no personnel income tax at all. Is this a coincidence? I don't think so.

The state of Mississippi needs to lower taxes to encourage capital spending, and growth. This is the only proven way to improve our lifestyle, here at home. Look at the Soviets, they worked 100 percent of their year for the government, and they went broke. Mac Magee Waveland

Historical Society revives popular book

Approximately 3,000 books are available at Lobrano House

BY SHANNON JENKINS
Staff Writer

In August 1999, the Hancock County Historical Society published a book to celebrate the first 300 years of Bay St. Louis.

"We were planning to print 250 copies," said Charles Gray, the president. "We printed about 3,300 copies before wearing out our printer."

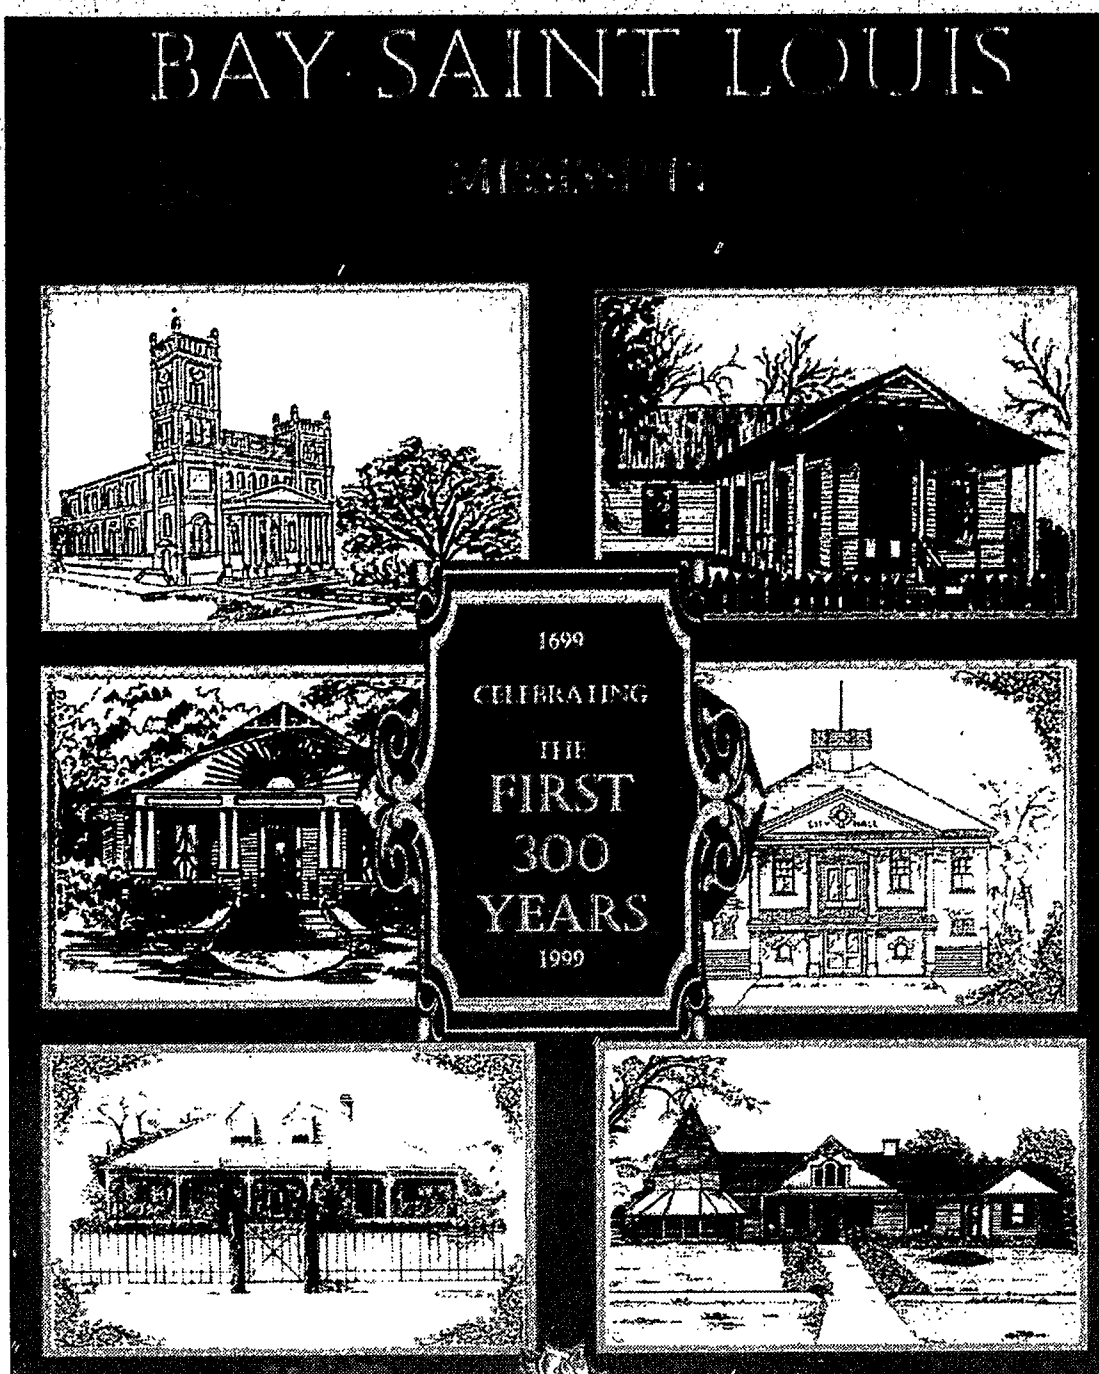

The book has been out of publication until now. Gray said several people have been on a waiting list since they first ran out of copies. Now, the historical society has approximately 3,000 copies to be sold.

The books, which cost $15 each, gives a brief history of the cities in the county, including Waveland, Pearlinton, Kiln, Diamondhead and Bay St. Louis.

This publication also includes a history of the eight flags that have flown over the Gulf Coast since 1699.

Those flags included the following:

- France (1699-1763)
- England (1763-1780)
- Spain (1780-1810)
- Lone Star Republic of West Florida (Sept. 23 - Dec. 7, 1810)
- Star Spangled Banner (1811-1861)
- Magnolia State Flag (1861-1894)
- Confederate Battle

Flag (1861-1865)
• Mississippi Flag (1894-present)

The book, however, serves primarily as a guide to the beach front, which houses many historical homes and buildings.

To find out more about this publication, contact the Hancock County Historical Society at 228-467-4090 or visit at the Kate Lobrano House located at 108 Cue St.

of these domestic wells by providing tax incentives that hopefully will keep these wells producing year-round.

I am pleased the Senate has finally passed a bill to establish a national energy policy. This is not a win for Republicans or Democrats, or oil companies or environmental advocacy groups. It is a win for all Americans. It is a step toward making our country more energy independent and more secure in a very hostile world - a world whose most questionable nations seek ways to exploit America's energy dependence. They know America has a vast energy producing capacity, both in terms of natural resources and technological skill. They are just betting we don't have the fortitude to use it. This bill will make them think again, and it will make America more secure.

Providing entertainment is not the only function of the Diamondhead Performing Arts Society (DPAS).

Although its successful series of concerts and shows offers locals with first-class performances, this volunteer organization also provides a valuable service to budding artists.

Proceeds from each season are used to award deserving students with scholarships to universities and colleges.

For the 2003-2004 season, five students were each awarded $500 scholarships to USM (Hattiesburg), USM (Long Beach), Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College (MGCCC) Perkinston Gulf Park campus and Jeff Davis campus.

Last season, the group gave two $500 scholarships to two students from MGCCC, Perkinston campus.

"Our board voted to award these scholarships to Gulf Coast universities and their main campuses," said Jamie Valigosky, DPAS's recording secretary. "Each university's dean chooses the student with the only requirement from us (being) Coast residency and studying in the arts field."

When asked why DPA chose to award scholarships rather than fund other activities, Valigosky's answer was simple.

"The board feels that the arts are important, and by aiding these young students in their studies, we will encourage the continued interest and furtherance of the arts."

In order to accomplish this goal, the board members work throughout the year to create a successful season of entertainment.

"The process of selecting concerts, performers and performing groups begins in the fall (each year), and the committee normally is finished by late March or early April," said Bob MacDowell, the director of performances. "This is the time that we solicit patron members for the following year; so, we have to have everything ready for an enthusiastic fund drive."

This committee is composed of about 8 to 10 patron members. Regular season ticket holders or any member of the society may be asked to serve on the committee, MacDowell said.

"We normally meet once a month for about two hours," he said. "The members bring suggestions to the meeting of talent or acts they would like to see. Sometimes they have seen the act at one of the casinos or on board a cruise ship or at one of the other venues in the area."

The acts, MacDowell said, are then discussed, and if the committee believes they would please the membership, then the committee follows up by requesting tapes, CDs, DVDs, etc., so the entire committee can view, hear and/or see the performance. The committee then asks the act for the monetary requirements to see if enough funds are available to contract the performer.

"We try to have a variety of events to please our subscribers," MacDowell said. "We did an in-house survey of our subscribers to see what kind of music they liked and wanted, and it was overwhelmingly in favor of more

The Preservation Hall Jazz Band will open the entertainment season for the Diamondhead Performing Arts Society on Sunday, Sept. 14, at 7 p.m. at the Diamondhead Country Club. Tickets are $15 for adults and $3.50 for students. Tickets may be purchased in advance at the Diamondhead Pharmacy or at the door the night of the performance.

classical type music. We try to have something for everyone's tastes. So, we try to have theater, opera, orchestra classics, jazz and something in the visual arena."

Charles Garrison, the DPAS president, said the society has commissioned groups from virtually every area of the Coast and from New Orleans.

"We're the only sustaining organization in Diamondhead whose sole purpose is the production of the performing and visual arts," he said. "We constantly strive to provide the best possible performances and the broadest spectrum of entertainment, from drama to comedy to jazz to the purest classics."

As for the residents of Diamondhead, Garrison said they have been instrumental in the society's success.

"Diamondhead patrons support the Diamondhead Performing Arts Society by paying $150 per year to attend the six performances that they could attend for a season ticket price of $75 per year," he said. "That speaks for itself in their response."

Waveland schedules public hearing on $10.3M budget

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Waveland city officials gave a proposed 2003/2004 budget a final going over on Thursday night in preparation for a public hearing tomorrow night. The hearing will be held Monday, September 8 at 6:30 p.m. at the Waveland Police Department in conjunction with the regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

Proposed expenditures for the new budget total $10,310,068 with a projected ending cash balance of $2,347,451, bringing totals to a proposed $12,657,519, about $2 million less than last years ending total. The reduction is due largely to the completion of several capital improvement projects at the close of this budget year.

City millage will remain the same, 22.625 mills between all funds, good news for city residents at a time when neighboring Bay St. Louis has just announced a doubling of their city millage rates.

With no casino revenues, the city depends largely on sales tax and charges for city services for revenues, with property taxes coming in as third large source of city revenues. A newly completed Super Walmart is expected to bring in extra sales tax revenues, bringing those totals to an estimated $2,130,500 for 2003/2004.

New businesses expected to move into the city to replace the vacated Walmart building could bring additional revenues.

Good news for the Hancock County Library is that the city has proposed an addition of .5 mills to the library's fund this next budget year, bringing total library millage to 2.5 mills.

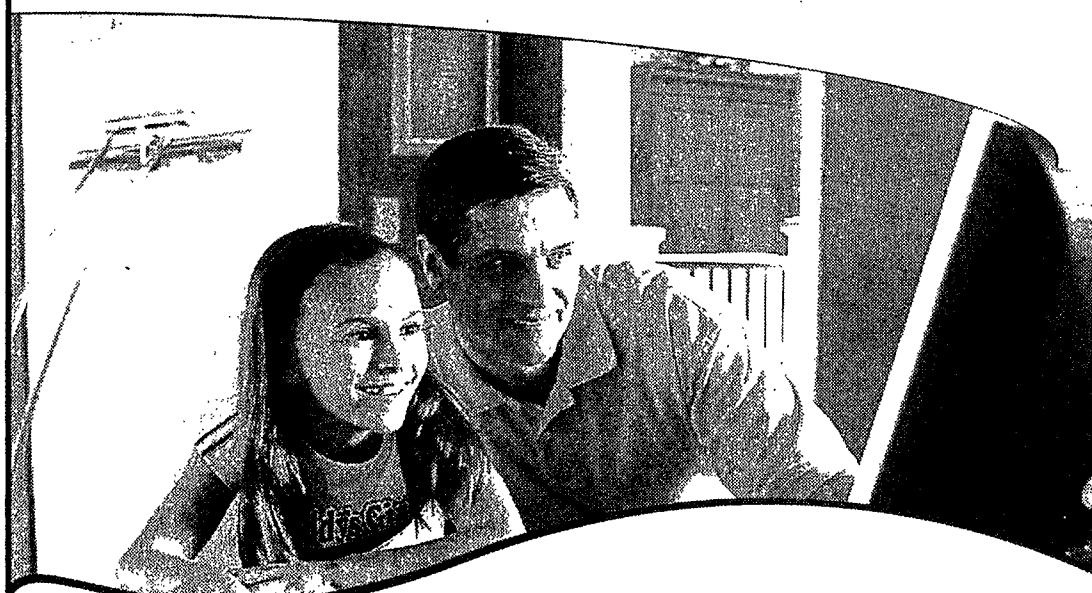

The extra millage was added to help cover the cost of operating the newly expanded facility on Coleman Ave., said officials.

A 3.6 percent pay raise for all city employees is also proposed. As a general estimate about 2 percent of that figure will go to cover increased health insurance costs for the city's fully paid employee health plans. On average employees will only see about a 1.6 percent cost of living increase on take home pay. Raises do not include the salaries of elected officials.

Also adding to budget costs to the general fund this year is a $400,00 increase in administrative and legal fees connected to the proposed annexation.

Three generations - just one Birthday!

Nola Kingston King celebrates a milestone today - her 75th birthday. Why is that newsworthy? She and her daughter and granddaughter all were born on the same day. All three generations were born on September 7th.

The odds of that happening? According to John Gazak, adjunct professor of math at Utica College, New York, it's very rare. The chance is one in more than 48 million.

Schools

In the Bay-Waveland School District, Waveland Elementary was the only school to receive this honor. "As a school, we have high expectations of all our students, and they rose to the occasion," said Rebecca McCaleb, principal. "We set high goals for them, and they met those expectations."

For the Hancock County School District, the Level 5 rating went to Hancock High and East Hancock Elementary.

"We were elated," said Hancock High principal Donnie Gholston. "We worked hard for many years; it was long-term getting here. The teachers and students get most of the credit. They are the heart of it all."

Every school in the Pass Christian School District received the Level 5 rating — Pass Christian High School, Pass Christian Middle School, Delisle Elementary and Pass Christian Elementary.

"This accomplishment is the result of many years of hard work and dedication to students by our teachers and administrators," said Dr. Sue Matheson, superintendent of Pass Christian Schools, in a press release. "Our former superintendent, Philip Terrell, was also instrumental in this achievement by focusing on improving instruction for all students during his 10 years in the Pass school system."

Look in the upcoming issues of The Sea Coast Echo to find out more about these schools receiving a Level 5 status.

According to the information released to area law enforcement agencies, Sessoms is approximately 5'11" and weighs about 190 pounds. He has blue eyes and a scar on his left leg. He may have recently grown a beard.

Fontenot asked that anyone with information in the case call the Long Beach Police Department at 863-7292.

Community Action Agency meeting

The Gulf Coast Community Action Agency will conduct its annual Needs Assessment meeting, Thursday, September 11, 2003 at 10:00 a.m. at Coast Electric. The building is located on the corner of Highway 90 and Main Street, Directly behind the Shell Gas Station. The agency is seeking community input to determine the needs of the area. The public is urged to attend. Refreshments served.

Moonlight -- Cuevas honored

Cuevas for his years of service to both the hospital and Hancock County.

Hancock Supervisor Lisa Cowand and Chancery Clerk Tim Kellar also presented Cuevas with a commendation from the Board of Supervisors.

Cowand said the board was "honored and pleased to commend Ellis Cuevas for his many years of outstanding contributions and dedicated services to Hancock County, and the citizens" of the county.

The eighth annual dinner dance was hosted at Bay St. Louis Casino Magic's Cypress Cove Ballroom. Last year's gala honored general surgeon Joseph Rillens Lee. A highlight of the event was a silent auction featuring donations by local artists, businesses and individuals. Entertainment by "Witness" kept the dance floor crowded until midnight.

A VIP reception for patrons was hosted by Casino Magic prior to the dinner. Additional event sponsors include BancorpSouth, Peoples Bank, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Kleinpeter and Jeanie S.

Echo Publisher Emeritus Ellis C. Cuevas shows Sandra Belcher of the District Attorney's office that he's a dancing machine, as well as a community activist.

Moran.

Cuevas, Foundation President, has been affiliated with the organization since its formation. For the past few years, he has coordinated monthly community luncheons at Hancock Medical Center to acquaint residents with the hospital's services.

He began his newspaper career in the production department of The Sea Coast Echo in 1957, rising through the ranks as advertising director and general manager. He was editor and publisher from 1977 until retirement in 2000.

A Waveland native, Cuevas was inducted into the Mississippi Press Association's Hall of Fame in 1998 and was named Outstanding Citizen in 1991 by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce. In 2001 he received the prestigious NASA Public Service Medal in recognition of three decades of support of the John C. Stennis Space Center. Bay St. Louis Rotary Club awarded the longtime member a Paul Harris Fellow and Vocational Excellence award.

His extensive leadership and community involvement has been a guiding force for organizations including: The United Way of Hancock County, Goodwill Industries of South Mississippi, Hancock County Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, Main Street United Methodist Church, Emily deMontluzin Scholarship Committee, Hancock County Historical Society and Mississippi Marine Debris Trash Task Force to name a few.

Cuevas' wife of 40 years, Lillian (Jane) Taconi of Bay St. Louis, was a nursing employee of Hancock Medical Center until her retirement.

Lost your job, consider Community Education, but sign up this week

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Publisher Emeritus

Residents who may have lost their jobs due to company closings, or down sizing, may want to consider several 10-week vocational technical courses being offered now at the City County Community Education program.

Dr. Gaynell Roberts, Community Education Executive Director on Friday said, "We are now registering several courses for adults 18 years of age, or older, which still have a demand in the job market."

"Metal Trades (machinist) and Welding are two of the most popular positions in the local work force. Our program has a 10-week course in both trades, where adults can learn entry level skills," Roberts added.

Also adults interested in entering computer related fields can choose from six or 10-week courses, such as; Excel 2002 XP, MS Word XP, Power Point/Access and Computer Keyboarding.

The ten week course sessions are from 6 to 10 p.m. two nights per week, and tuition fees are from $90 to $120, Roberts reports. Most six-week courses are $60 for two-hour sessions once a week.

Classes are held at Hancock County Vo-Tech Center, Hancock High and Bay High. For registration, or further information, call 467-3892, weekdays, 9 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

In addition to the above courses, registrations is now being taken for some 30 other courses for the adult population.

St. Stanislaus celebrates 150th

St. Stanislaus College starts its 150th year of continuous operation as an educational institution on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. St. Stanislaus celebrated its sesquicentennial year beginning with a Mass of Thanksgiving held on Saturday, September 6, 2003 at 7:00 p.m. at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay Saint Louis, Mississippi according to Brother Ronald Talbot, President. Most Reverend Thomas J. Rodi, Bishop of the Diocese of Biloxi, will be the main celebrant of the mass. Concelebrating will be local parish priests, deacons and alumni.

St. Stanislaus College will celebrate the sesquicentennial year with the following events: Golf Invitational and Homecoming on October 17, 2003; 5k Fun Run on October 18, 2003; Sesquicentennial Birthday Celebration on January 30, 2004; and Sesquicentennial Gala on May 8, 2004.

St. Stanislaus College is a Catholic residency and day school for young men in grades 6-12. The school fosters character formation and integrates faith development within a curriculum which is primarily college preparatory.

Bay Catholic Elementary Poboy sale on Sept. 17

Bay Catholic Elementary's PTO will be holding their annual Po-Boy and Chef Salad Sale on Wednesday, September 17, 2003. The menu includes ham or ham and cheese po-boy, roast beef po-boy with gravy on the side, or a chef salad with your choice of ranch or Italian dressing. The sandwiches and salads are $5.00 and delivery is available with 5 or more orders. All orders must be submitted and payment received by Friday, September 12th. Po-Boys and salads may be ordered by contacting or dropping by the school office at 301 South Second Street, BSL, 39520. Orders not being delivered may be picked up at the OLG Community Center between 10:30 and 12:00 on the 17th.

BUSINESS NEWS

Numbered traffic signals to promote business, tourism

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce has unveiled the much-anticipated Highway 90 sequentially numbered sign project with the installation of the marker at Debuys Road, the first of 44 to be installed at Highway 90 traffic signals in Harrison County alone.

The project is designed to promote business and tourism by providing professional, easily recognizable and universally understood landmarks in high-traffic and high-visibility areas that will give direction, locate points of interest and create better understanding for non-English-speaking visitors. The markers also enhance public safety by clearly identifying medical treatment facilities and hurricane evacuation routes.

With the sequential numbers starting from the first signaled light nearest the Louisiana/Mississippi line, these user-friendly signs are a cooperative effort of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce and the Gulf Coast Attractions Association, with the approval and support of the Harrison County Board of Supervisors, the Harrison County Sand Beach Department, the Mayors and Boards of each city, and Wayne Brown of the Mississippi Department of Transportation. Extended support and implementation are planned for the cities of Ocean Springs, Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

"The Mississippi Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce is proud to see this project completed," said Coast Chamber Chair Janice Young. "Not only is it a great tool for our businesses and visitors, but it represents a true partnership of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Chamber, the area chambers, local and state officials. This is an example of what can be accomplished when we all work together. Tonda Yandell, who was Tourism Committee chairman when the project started, has been working on this idea for over three years, and today it is a reality."

"We thank the Harrison County Board of Supervisors and we especially thank Bobby Weaver and the Harrison County Sand Beach Department, who purchased the signs for Harrison County. The individual cities have agreed to install and maintain the signs. Local businesses can use these signs to advertise the exact location of their business, and easily direct locals and tourists to their business. The response from the entire business community has been positive. Several businesses are waiting for the signs to go up before they have their next group of advertising brochures printed, they want to refer to the sign numbers in their directions."

"We're also excited that both Hancock and Jackson county chamber and tourism officials are on board and planning to complete the project by mounting numbered signs along Hwy 90 in their communities. With growing numbers of visitors and newcomers coming to the Mississippi Coast, this project will make it much easier for them to really enjoy all the Coast has to offer."

BSL receives Homeland Security Grant

The Bay Saint Louis Fire Department will administer the $36,000 Homeland Security Grant received by the city through the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency to enhance citywide response to emergencies, particularly toxic spills.

"This is an opportunity for our city to have better personnel protective gear and specialized monitoring equipment in the event we have a train derailment of toxic chemicals, toxin spill that affects our waterfront or roadway accidents. We are very appreciative of having this funding," said Mayor Eddie Favre.

Level C Tyvek protective sub, including gas masks, are being purchased for key department personnel. A storage trailer to house new radio equipment and portable weather monitoring stations will also be acquired with grant funds.

"In an emergency situation all four city departments are responsive and we have planned our expenditures to meet those additional needs. Our existing public safety inventory of equipment gives fire and police personnel a level of protection that is not normally needed by public works or administration, except in extreme situations. Bay Saint Louis is making every effort to be prepared for all emergencies and to protect the personnel that must provide protection to our public," said Fire Chief Robert Gavagnie. "We intend to be good stewards of the monies we receive, using it efficiently and effectively, making purchases that can be used in multiple situations to do our job," he concluded.

StennisSphere visitor center to relocate

StennisSphere, the visitor center at NASA Stennis Space Center (SSC), will remain open Sept. 8-19, during the construction closing of the I-10 Welcome Center near Bay St. Louis. StennisSphere will relocate its visitor operations to the SSC south gate, three miles north of Interstate 10 (I-10) at Exit 2.

Signs along Highway 607 will guide visitors to the SSC south gate reception building, where they will sign in, obtain a visitor's badge and board a bus to StennisSphere. Signs will direct visitors to the designated parking location. Registration procedures remain the same. Visitors over age 18 are required to present a photo I.D. to obtain a visitor's badge, which must be displayed during their visit to SSC.

StennisSphere offers interactive, educational exhibits and tours. Winter hours, in effect now through Memorial Day weekend, are Monday-Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The center is closed on major holidays. Tour and school groups are welcome.

Warriors run past Rocks 30-0

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
STAFF WRITER

A crowd, estimated at 2,000-plus, packed the house at the Brother Phillip Memorial Athletic Complex Friday when the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws ran into a buzzsaw of a team in the #4-ranked Oak Grove Warriors.

The Warriors ran past the Rocks 30-0 led by their Dandy Dozen RB/LB Garry Pack who rushed the ball six times for 178 yards and four scores. Senior QB Kyle Sellers commanded the Warrior machine without a kink and sophomore kicker Taylor Lovitt booted a 29-yard field goal to round out the scoring.

Pack ran past, through and around would be tacklers and proved why he is one of Mississippi's most prized football recruits. Sellers was surgical with his passing and sliced through the defense on runs. Coaches say he is the type of player that you can put into a phone booth and still never catch him.

SSC head coach Casey Wittmann commented, "Tonight was a reality check for this team. Our kids played hard but it was dumb football at times. We cannot make the mistakes that we did and try to play catch-up with a team like Oak Grove. However, the breakdowns that were made tonight are breakdowns that can be corrected."

"Kyle Sellers is as good a high school quarterback that anyone will see. Garry Pack is one of the top players in Mississippi and he proved his worth tonight. We will get better from this experience. I am proud of our effort tonight. Now, we have to get back to work and correct what breakdowns we had and prepare for Long Beach. They are a quality 5A football team with a solid quarterback. Their defense is a strong one led by another Dandy Dozen player in Xavier Mitchell," Wittmann added.

SSC opened the game on offense and after minimal gains by Rob Smith and Matt Hoda, the Rocks punted away to the Warriors. It took just two plays for the Warriors to put some points on the board. Sellers hit Grant Hogue for a 20-yard gain and a first down. The 6-2, 220lb Pack followed that with a 39-yard scoring run with 8:05 left in the opening quarter. Taylor Lovitt connected on the PAT to make the score 7-0.

SSC mixed the offense up on their next possession handing off to Hoda and then going to the air. QB Tim Kulikowski hit Mike Cure for a seven-yard gain and a first down. However, a penalty halted the drive and SSC punted away. A shanked punt gave the Warriors the ball at the Rock 31-yardline.

SSC held the Warriors out of the endzone behind the strong play of Nick Weinmann, Spencer Ziegler, Lee Kkein, and Jordan Ellis. Lovitt booted a 29-yard field goal with 3:08 left in the first period to make the score 10-0.

The Rocks hardly got out of the starting gate on their next possession when a Kulikowski pass was picked off at the Rock 45 and returned to the 14 yardline. Pack pounded his way into the endzone on a 14-yard carry with 1:15 left in the first quarter. Lovitt converted on the PAT and the score 17-0.

The Rocks put together an extended 11-play drive on their next possession. But, in the end SSC had to punt the ball away. Feeling an opportunity to seal the game early, the Warriors went to the air. Sellers and Brandon Newson each ran for 7 and 16 yards, respectively. Sellers hit Hogue for a 11-yard gain and a first down. He went back to the airwaves on the next play but was intercepted by Stefan Sofianos at the Rock 15 yardline.

After some fine running by Rob Smith that tallied a first down, the Rocks' drive was halted. Kulikowski was sacked for a 17-yard loss trying to evade pressure. SSC had to punt away to the Warriors.

Newson and Sellers methodically pushed the Warriors down to the Rock 2 yardline where Pack powered the pigskin across the goaline. Lovitt missed on his PAT attempt as the Warriors took a 23-0 lead into halftime.

The Warriors started the second half on offense. It appeared that Sofianos had intercepted his second Sellers' pass of the game; however, a penalty against the Rocks nullified his attempt. Two plays later, though, the Warriors fumbled the ball away to the Rocks.

SSC mounted another extended drive highlighted by a 16-yard pass to Cure; however, the drive was halted by a SSC penalty. The Rocks punted away to the Warriors. Michael Kivlan's punt was downed at the Oak Grove 5-yardline.

The Warriors went 95 yards in five plays to score the game final points. Sellers hit Drew Ezel for a 7-yard gain and Chase Carey with a 10-yard pass. Pack carried for a gain of 33 yards and then scored on a 45-yard run with 6:05 left in the third quarter. Lovitt converted the PAT and the final score was 30-0.

The Rocks put together their best drive of the game late in the fourth quarter. SSC had a 12-play drive that started at their own 18 yardline. The Rocks ran Smith on four straight plays for gains of 3, 6, 6, and 4 yards. Floyd Dedeaux gained 15 yards and a first down on a reverse followed by a Hoda 9-yard pickup. Kulikowski went to the air connecting with Cure for a gain of 11 yards. Then, disaster struck as he was sacked for a 19-yard loss by a host of Warriors. Kulikowski hit Cure for another gain of 16 yards but it was too little too late. SSC turned the ball over on downs as they squandered the opportunity to avoid the shutout.

Rob Smith led the Rocks with 77 yards rushing on 18 carries while Michael Cure had seven receptions for 79 yards. Defensively, Jordan Ellis had 11 tackles followed by Lee Klein with 9 hits. Stefan Sofianos had an interception and Anthony Taylor recovered a fumble for SSC.

The Rocks will be in between the walls' next week against the Long Beach Bearcats on September 12 at Brother Phillip Memorial Athletic Complex. The Bearcats defeated the Pass Christian Pirates 42-14 on Friday night. Kickoff is set for 7:30pm.

THE SEA COAST ECHO FISHING REPORT

by Capt. Mike Thompson
www.shorethingcharters.com

September is transition month for area fishing

The weather this past Labor Day weekend kept myself as well as many other Mississippi Gulf Coast anglers at the dock opting for BBQ, Wave Fest, and gatherings of friends and family over thirty knot winds, rain, and potentially dangerous seas.

The fishing was great before the inclement weather prevented us from fishing over the weekend and this past week it has been even better. September is often referred to as a transition month for many inshore species as they make their way back into the interior bayous and ponds of our local marshes from their summer stomping grounds such as Breton Sound and the Chandeleur Islands. So far this first week that is certainly proving true.

The extremely high water levels caused by tropical depression 12 have made the redfish almost impossible to reach as they can venture farther into the marsh grass than when the water is at average tide levels. The high water is not without its advantages however.

Many adventurous anglers are taking advantage of the opportunity to explore small ponds and bayous that were previously unreachable for them and many others. Many of these anglers are also producing a few fish drifting or working the shorelines with a trolling motor in these "new" ponds.

Weed less spinner baits such as the Spot Remover, Terminator, and other similar baits have been working well in these situations along with an assortment of top water baits. When doing this I highly recommend using your depth finder and remember that the water depth will be about two feet less on your next visit during normal tide conditions.

It is also a good idea to carry a push pole whenever you are exploring new ponds and bayous as many times you will find it easier on both you and your motor to "pole" yourself across a muddy bottom than to try and get out and push or let the engine do the work.

The speckled trout bite has continued to improved over the past week as larger size and great numbers of trout are being caught in the Louisiana marsh from such areas as Jack Williams, Holmes Island, and Mitchell Island, to as far west as Three Mile Pass.

The trick seems to be to find the clear water and presence of bait, and the trout are not far behind. A few have been caught in the deeper ponds while working for redfish, however the majority have been caught in two to five foot of water. Baits of choice have been H&H cocahoe minnows or DOA shrimp either tight lined or rigged under a cork. Colors have been running the gauntlet from greens and reds, to whites and clear. I generally try to keep everyone aboard using different colors until we find which one is working the best, and then switch everyone over to that color.

One tip when using DOA shrimp in a heavy feeding situation when trout are chasing shrimp to the top of the water: Carolina rig them using a 1/4 ounce egg weight slid onto the main line before attaching your swivel and leader. The leader should be no shorter than 12 inches and may be as long as 18. The egg weight doesn't affect the falling action of the bait, however keeps it in the strike zone.

When trout are chasing shrimp to the top they are first hitting them while the shrimp are on or just off the bottom, keep your lure in the strike zone and it won't be long until you are slinging them over the side!

Until next week be safe and please remember to be courteous to your fellow fishermen.

Bay High wins homecoming, 24-21; Tigers 2-0 behind "Air" Ferry passing

BY MAURICE SINGLETON
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The Bay High Tigers capitalized on an Eagles' turnover early in the fourth quarter and relied on their defense to close out a 24-21 homecoming win at McCullough Stadium on Friday night.

Trailing 21-17 to start the fourth quarter, sophomore linebacker Trevor Adams broke through the Eagles blocking and recovered his first of two Eagles fumbles on the night. This recovery gave the Tigers excellent field position at the St. John 11 yardline. The Tigers wasted no time as quarterback Zack Ferry hit junior receiver Jovan Williams on stride for the winning score. Kyle Moran's point after kick closed out the game's scoring.

The Tigers defense had trouble stopping the potent Eagles ground assault that pounded out more than 300 yards on the night. But when they had to, the Tigers defense held the Eagles to two earned first downs on their two fourth quarter possessions and didn't allow the visitors to score in the final quarter to secure their second win of the young season.

"In the fourth quarter the defense stepped up big for us," said Coach Glenn Williams. "Everyone on our defense has a job to do; if anyone gets out of place and don't do their job, they (St. John) get big plays. Basically they played defense in the fourth quarter like we had told them all week."

The Tigers passing attack caused problems for the visitors as Ferry completed 19 of 29 passes for 273 yards with two interceptions. Lorenzo Lewis led a crew of six Tigers receivers with eight receptions for 145 yards and two touchdowns. Williams totaled 4 receptions for 42 yards and the touchdown; Antonio Hawkins had three receptions for 48 yards; Brad Ladner had 2 receptions for 25 yards. Micah Rogers and Kyle Moran each had one catch for 7 and 5 yards respectively.

Kyle Moran led the Tigers in rushing yardage with 63 yards on 13 carries. Ferry added 26 yards on nine carries.

The Tigers drove the field in their opening drive as Ferry completed passes of 10, 3 and 24 yards, mixed with Kyle Moran runs of 7 and 5 yards. But the Tigers failed to advance the ball after Moran's 5-yard run on first down at the St. John 11 yardline. On fourth down, Moran's 28-yard field goal split the uprights to open the game's scoring at the 8:09 mark of the first quarter.

St. John drove the field 65 yards on their first possession with key runs of 9, 20 and an 8 yard touchdown run by Ro'Man Martin. The successful point-after-kick gave the Eagles a 7-3 lead at the 3:10 mark of the first quarter.

On their ensuing possession, the Tigers turned the ball over on a fumble. Three plays later, St. John turned the ball over to the Tigers when Cory Thornton recovered an Eagles fumble at the Tigers own 30 yardline.

Facing a third down with 10 yards to go for a first down, Ferry hit Hawkins with a sideline pattern who then broke tackles for a 30-yard gain. Ferry followed with two pass plays to Lewis: the first a 26 yard play and the second a 14-yarder for the go-ahead score. Moran's PAT was good to give the Tigers a 10-7 lead with 37 ticks remaining in the first quarter.

The Tigers had a chance to add to their lead after recovering a St. John fumble at the visitors' 16 yardline with 15 seconds remaining in the second quarter. The half ended with a busted play on second as Ferry secured a bobbled snap. The 10-7 Tigers lead held up at halftime.

St. John's sophomore quarterback gave the visitors the lead on the fourth play of the third quarter with a 53-yard keeper for the score. The PAT kick gave the visitors a 14-10 lead with 10:24 remaining in the third quarter.

The Tigers took the lead back again on their ensuing series, going for it facing a fourth down with just inches to go for a first down. Ferry found Lewis in traffic who then broke tackles and changed direction, outrunning a single defender for a 60-yard touchdown play. Moran's PAT kick gave the Tigers a 17-14 lead with 6:52 remaining in the third quarter.

St. John came right back and drove the field 58 yards. Martin carried the screen pass from Roberts 39 yards for the score, closing out the Eagles scoring on the night.

"The character and heart that we have right now is tremendous," Williams said of his team's ability to overcome two leads by the visitors in the second half. "They believe that they can win every time they step on the field."

The Tigers will get another test next week when they take their 2-0 record on the road to Carriere next Friday night. Kickoff is at 7:00 p.m.

Hawks scalp Indians 14-10

BY DWAYNE BREMER
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The Hancock Hawks took a step in the right direction Friday, as they won their home opener 14-10 against the Biloxi Indians. The Hawks, who were victims of turnovers and penalties in week one, benefited from an Indian squad that committed 15 penalties for 138 yards.

"It's a work in progress, we are doing a lot of new things on offense, but we improved tonight," said Hawks head coach Rocky Gaudin.

The Hawks were without starting quarterback Robert Domke, who was injured last week, and only played defense in Friday night's game. Junior Jeremy Thomas filled in, and did a solid job throwing for 130 yards and committing no turnovers.

"I got use to the game the more I played, I got a lot of confidence from my team, and I felt pretty comfortable," Thomas said.

The Hawks defense held the Indians to only 25 yards rushing, and with the game on the line, the defense stopped a last minute drive by the Indians.

Late in the first quarter, the Indians threatened to put the first score on the board, as the moved the ball inside the Hawks 20.

Jerrold Barrios and Gerald Adams make a tackle for no gain, and on second down Charles Bolden hit Damien Fletcher and caused a fumble that Tyler Ball recovered at the 23.

The turnover sparked the Hawks offense, as they went on a 14 play drive to score their first touchdown. Thomas connected with Steven Dauenhauer and Myron Fairley for first downs, and Daniel Spiers ran for another.

With the ball at the 30, Thomas hit David Brown for a pretty 30-yard touchdown pass, Justin Ratcliff added the point, and the Hawks had a 7-0 lead with 10:59 to play in the second quarter.

The Indians struck back on their next possession, as Jimmy Barnett booted a 40-yard field goal, at the 6:01 mark, the Hawks led 7-3.

The Indians threatened late in the half, driving the ball to the Hawks 15. Eddie Bledsoe knocked away two passes in the endzone, and after a penalty, Barnett missed a 42-yard field goal to end the half.

The Hawks came out of the locker room fired up for the second half. After a pass interference call, Thomas gunned a 40-yard bomb to Dauenhauer, giving the Hawks a first down at the 31. The Hawks then played some smash mouth football, as Spiers had runs of eight and five yards, and two plays later Bledsoe ran through a gaping hole for a nine yard touchdown. Ratcliff booted the point after, and the Hawks led 14-

3. The Hawks defense stopped the Indians on their next drive. Tackles by Jonathan Lacoste, Bolden and Bledsoe forced a punt.

The Hawks picked up three first downs behind the running of Adonis Washington and a great catch by Daren Kilpatrick who broke three tackles. The Hawks did not score, but a good punt backed the Indians up at their own 11.

With their backs to the wall, the Indians put together an 12 play drive to get back into the game. Quarterback Paul Gunn completed seven of ten passes on the drive, finishing the drive with an 18-yard touchdown to Larico Matthis. Bennett added the point after, and with 6:38 to play the Hawks were holding on 14-10.

The Indians got the ball back, after the Hawks turned it over on down with 4:17 to play.

Starting at the 31, Gunn hit Clarence Cotten for 14 and 17 yards. The Indians had a first down at the 38, when Matt Rayborn sacked Gunn for a 12-yard loss. On the next play Gunn scrambled, but Donald Hains stopped him for no gain, on third down, Gunn was sacked by Tyler Ball, for a loss of 14.

On fourth down Cotten was stopped by Domke, and the Hawks took over with just 1:29 to play.

The Hawks ran out the clock, and took their first victory of the season.

"The defense played four quarters, and we stayed together," said Bolden who had 14 tackles and a forced fumble in the game.

The Hawks are now 1-1 on the young season, and they will celebrate their homecoming next week against Ocean Springs.

A correction from last week's game. The Hawks first touchdown was thrown by Braxton Necaise, a 30-yard touchdown to David Brown against Long Beach.

the second quarter. Three plays and 35 yards later the Bearcats held a 21-0 lead after Farrell's touchdown pass to Clayton Stevens and Howe's PAT. The Pirate's second half kick was returned to the 26 yard-line by Ken Cook, but the bear cats were forced to punt from their own 40 yard-line. The Pirates fumbled the return and handed the Bearcats the ball on the Pass High 24 yard-line. Two plays later Farrell connected with Jarvis Shelby on a 12 yard pass for a touchdown. Freddy Howe's PAT brought the score to 28-0.

The Pirates answered with a 74 yard drive highlighted by a 44 yard pass from Chad Musgrove to Brandon Riley. Anthony Henderson scored on a three yard run with 5:19 remaining in the third quarter and Jonathan Willis' PAT made it 28-7.

Long Beach returned the following kick to their 36 and marched 64 yards to score on Farrell's second touchdown pass to Ken Cook. Howe's PAT made it 35-7, Bearcats.

The Pirates attempted a reverse on the kickoff return and a fumble gave the Bearcats the ball on the Pass High 10 yard-line. A personal foul penalty pushed Long Beach back to the 20 yard-line but Farrell's fifth touchdown pass was complete to Blaine Stiger, and the Bearcats led, 41-7, missing the extra point.

Pass High mounted a drive following a Long Beach fumble which gave the Pirates a first down at their own 47 yard-line. Moving 53 yards in 10 plays, Pass High ended the scoring with a touchdown and a Willis kick, making the final score Long Beach 41, Pass High 14.

The Pirates totaled 160 yards on offense and 10 first downs, to Long Beach's 230 yards and 14 first downs. Defensively, Jared Bowser led tackling with 7 solos and 3 assists. Perry Williams added 5 unassisted tackles and Ledel Johnson had three.

Pass High travels to Gulfport to face St. John next Friday, looking for a win to gain momentum for their first district contest when they entertain Bay High on September 19.

Bearcats claw Pirates 41-14

The Pass High Pirates traveled to Long Beach to face the Bearcats at Lance Lumpkin Stadium with many fans in support. The young Pirate team, which lists only three seniors on the roster, made a valiant effort but went down in defeat, 41-14.

Coach Bo Vonderbrugge commented, "We're a young and inexperienced team, but we'll get better each week if we do what we're supposed to do on the field. Long Beach did what they were supposed to do tonight."

The Bearcats grabbed an early lead, capitalizing on a Pirate miscue. Receiving the opening kick, Pass High attempted a swing pass which fell incomplete and was correctly judged to be a live ball by the alert senior linebacker, Ashton Bond who scooped up the lateral and ran for the end-zone. Freddy Howe kicked the point after and the Bearcats led, 7-0.

The Pirates next possession ended with a fumble and Long Beach took advantage of good field position and went ahead 14-0, driving 33 yards in three plays to score on a Pat Farrell pass to Ken Cook. Freddy Howe added the PAT for a 14 point lead with 7:38 remaining in the first quarter.

The Pirates were stuffed on the next attempt on offense and a poor punt gave Long Beach a first down at the Pass Christian 27. The Pirates, with their back to the wall, dug in and Tony Henderson and Ledel Johnson broke into the Bearcat backfield and sacked Farrell for a loss. Jonathan Willis harassed Farrell on third down and forced a field goal attempt, which the Pirates blocked, taking possession of the ball at their own 28 yard-line.

Pass High moved the ball to mid-field on strong running by Jared Bowser and Jeffery Hillard, but failed to convert on a fourth-and-nine and had to punt. A high snap forced punter Dalyn Saucier to run and the ball went over to Long Beach on downs.

The next possession for each team ended with a punt and the Bearcats set up offense at the Pass High 35 yard-line with 6:03 left in

Lady Tigers, Crescents win in division volleyball

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Our Lady Academy Crescents and the Bay High Lady Tigers both secured wins in high school volleyball action this past week.

Bay High defeated the Long Beach Lady Bearcats on Thursday, September 4 while OLA tallied a win over St. Thomas Aquinas on Wednesday, September 3.

The Lady Tigers defeated Long Beach 15-7 and 15-5. Tamara Reed had nine service points and Kendra Reed had seven points. Bay High head coach Liz Bosarge stated, "It was a great game between the two teams and I am very proud of the way the whole team played. It was a team effort."

The junior varsity Lady Tigers lost in three games 3-15, 15-7 and 12-15.

The Lady Tigers (7-1) will host the Lady Admirals of Gulfport on Tuesday, September 9 at 6 p.m.

The Crescents defeated St. Thomas Aquinas in three games 12-15, 15-8 and 15-5. Rachel Cranford had 23 assists and nine points followed by Rachel Cuevas with eight points and 11 kills. Jordan Fisher had 7 points, five assists and five kills. Lauren Renz tallied six points and ten kills. Annie Giardino had seven points and two kills while Kaylee Schmitt had ten kills.

The junior varsity defeated St. Thomas Aquinas 15-7 and 15-11 to improve to 12-1 on the season. On Thursday, September 4, the OLA Crescents (11-5) dropped a hard fought game with the Lady Panthers of Northshore High School 9-15 and 12-15. The second game lasted an incredible 53 minutes and the teams switched serves 17 times.

OLA head coach Mike Meyers stated, "We played as well as we have played all year. Northshore is an excellent team and we battled them to the end. I am extremely proud of the effort by each member of our team."

OLA had a 7-3 lead in the first game but gave up six consecutive points to lose 15-9. The two teams traded points or were stalemated for 16 serves. The final serve had Northshore score three consecutive points for the 15-12 win. Amanda Meyers tallied seven points while Kaylee Schmitt recorded six kills on the larger Northshore Lady Panthers.

The Crescents will host Pope John Paul II High School of Slidell on Tuesday, September 9.

Gold plant

By Norman Winter

Whether you want to call it a "spot of gold" or a "thread of gold," a new gardening trend will have you striking it rich.

Your garden will be well rewarded with envious glances from your neighbors when you add plants the color of gold to your landscape.

Gold-colored plants are hot — but not necessarily in large quantities, although I have seen great beds outlined in gold. What I am really talking about is wonderful perennial beds with one or two brilliant gold plants shining in the middle.

I like the complementary look the best when it comes to gold, so plant the opposite color of golden yellow, which is violet to purple. You may be thinking I am talking about plants like a golden rudbeckia combined with a veronica or a salvia. This works and always will, but this trend incorporates plants with golden foliage rather than flowers.

Three of the hottest gold-leaved plants are coleus, Joseph's coat and the evergreen shrub called chamaecyparis. Coleus is still on an upward trend in popularity. Though I recently encouraged you to mass plant, you will see that spot planting gold-leaved forms serves a great purpose.

Joseph's coat comes in several colors. It is durable and ideally suited to the front of the border or in pocket-type plantings. Let this serve as a warning: in October you will wish you had some in your landscape, so buy any you find remaining at the garden center.

The chamaecyparis is a dwarf conifer or evergreen shrub. The name actually means dwarf cypress. This plant is so popular that it is usually difficult to find. At first, horticulturists thought they would not take our torrid summers, but they have performed well throughout most of the state. Varieties like Gold Thread and Gold Mops are two of the better choices.

You are about to learn how the beds come together for a masterpiece. As my regular readers know, proper bed preparation is essential to great performance from any plant. You won't want to skip on that detail community of Santa Rosa or Tigerville, as it was once called, was quite a place in its time, said Lois Thigpen Metzler — a regular Peyton Place — though she declined to elaborate any further on the comment.

Lost Communities OF HANCOCK COUNTY

"We weren't all saints because we lived in Santa Rosa," she said.

Like most of the communities along the lower Pearl River, the residents of Santa Rosa were forced to leave their homes and family land when Stennis Space Center moved in to build its new rocket testing facility in the early 1960s. Santa Rosa was the northernmost community to give up land for what is now the Stennis Buffer Zone.

Many of the people didn't go far and merely slid over to nearby communities like Nicholson, where Miss Lois still lives today. At 84, she is still on the go, driving herself to exercise classes and running a business. Just recently she took a trip to Washington D.C. where she was greeted personally by one of her favorite heroes — Senator Trent Lott.

Miss Lois at her home near Nicholson. At 84 she still drives and takes exercise classes several days a week, as well as runs her own business.

Miss Lois is a pleasant reminder of a different and fast disappearing generation who did what they had to do to get done what needed to be done, with no nonsense. And there was simply no time left in the day to complain about any trouble.

Born in 1919, one of the 10 children of Janey and Jim Thigpen, she graduated from the old Kiln High School in 1938.

"We didn't have a high school because the Superintendent of Education, Kenneth McCarty, didn't want to spend the money to get one," said Miss Lois. "So, he had an old school bus, more like a cattle car, really, built to carry 32 kids to the Kiln High School. There was just an old wooden bridge over the river and only one car could pass. His 16-year-old son drove the school bus, and our parents never did know what a ride that was."

Miss Lois began her education at the old Aaron Academy in Santa Rosa named for Aaron Frierson who donated the land for the school. Like all of the other children she carried her lunch (taters or such) and walked the two and a half miles to the school.

"I used to pack Tim's mother on my back," she said. (She is speaking of Beulah Frierson Kellar, Hancock County Chancery Clerk Tim Kellar's mother.) "I tease her that my back still hurts from packing her on my back to school. She wasn't small."

Somewhere during her school career the WPA government work program

A short stop in Mandeville

When it began, the noise was fairly bad, rapping loudly, sounding as if I somehow had begun using bad gas. But, then the noise quickly became worse, changing to a loud almost grinding noise when I pressed on the gas.

I began frantically looking for the next exit. A sign, "Highway 59, half mile," and I turned my pickup down the ramp off I-12, then into a large quick stop service station.

When I pulled by the pumps, an attendant with a fire extinguisher came running out of the station.

The engine gave one loud ka-chung when I shut it off and the noise stopped. White smoke billowed out from the hood and I released the latch.

The attendant came up as I raised the hood and we looked inside. A light white slippery oil was everywhere; steam rose where it had hit the hot engine, but no fire. The attendant seemed almost disappointed. No dark smoke, nothing but the dripping fluid that gave off the faint smell of antifreeze. I looked at the radiator hoses. They seemed secure. Nothing seemed amiss that my non-mechanical eye could detect. But I knew enough that the engine in the half-mile run could have seized up and was ruined.

"We have a phone inside you can use."

I turned to the attendant and nodding followed him to the station. People at the various pumps were staring at me and the pickup and through the glass windows the people inside watched us come in. The girl behind the counter had the phone waiting for me and I called AAA. I told the AAA operator where I was and that I wanted to be towed back the 60 or so miles to Mississippi.

Views From a Front Porch

by Paul Estronza La Violette

The service station had lunch booths, and I sat in one and looked out the window at my pickup. It was 14 years old and had about a 150,000 miles on it. Almost all of it was my driving; it was my truck. When I got the pickup in Picayune and sat down with Stella and signed the papers, Stella had signed just as diligently as I had. It wasn't until we had got back to Waveland, she found that, while we both had signed for a 12-month loan on the pickup, its ownership papers were in my name!

She blew up! She called the dealership and preceded to tell them what they had done and what they were going to have to do. One line I remember as I went out the garage door, "What do you mean you didn't think a lady would want to own a pickup

Art Smarts resumes at Bay Library

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Art Smarts, a series of adventures in art history and appreciation, will resume its series Tuesday, September 9, from 7 to 8 p.m. in the Seal Room of the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library.

This is the fourth in the series, which has already covered art for the Early Christians and Byzantium: 100-1453; the Middle Ages in Europe with Romanesque and Gothic styled art.

The subject for this month's lecture will be Renaissance art from 1400-1600.

The library will provide a reading list of library materials relating to each lecture.

Cosponsored by the library system and the The ARTS, Hancock County, Mississippi, instructor for the Art Smarts series is Sandra Bagley. Bagley is a newcomer to Bay St. Louis. A native Tennessean, she received her BA in art history and theatre from David Lipscomb's University in Nashville. She has studied painting, drawing and art history at the Corcoran School of Art, Washington, D.C., the Trier Kunst Akademie Trier, Germany, and the Student Art League, Alexandria, Virginia.

Bagley has worked at the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C., as an exhibition aide and a registered copyist. She has shown her work in local, national and international competitions. Moving around the country with her husband, Scott has given Bagley the opportunity to show her work in different galleries most recently in Los Angeles, California, at the Classic Art Forms.

Space for each class is limited to 50 participants, and advance registration is required. Persons interested in attending this session should contact Jamie Elston or Adrienne Bradley at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library at 467-5282.

Hancock Women's Club to meet Thurs.

The ladies of Hancock Women's Club have been enjoying their time off from Club work for three months and enjoyed their summer.

Now it is time to resume their regular activities starting Thursday, September 11th at 10:30 at the Bayou Roux restaurant. The ladies meet always on the second Thursday of each month at a different location, making business for Hancock County restaurants through the year, keeping our Club on the move. For information and plans to attend luncheons, please feel free to call Amelia Killeen, President, at 467-0589 and she will help you.

The club welcomes Hancock resident ladies to come as paying guest to attend luncheons and get acquainted.

There will be a speaker at the luncheon with completion of the "Plant Swap" program. Ladies are to bring their plants to the luncheon for rewards.

Miss Lois -- Santa Rosa

launched a hot lunch program that sold lunches for seven cents. Miss Lois had a nickel and her friend lent her two cents so she could try the lunch.

"I couldn't wait," she said. "But that day they were only serving turnip greens and a piece of that old dark wheat bread and I looked in the bowl and there was a worm in there. But I had paid seven cents for the meal and I said to myself, I'm going to eat it, so I said, worm, get on over to the side."

Every month or so the family would go to the Turtle Skin Baptist Church. There would be baptisms in the Turtle Skin Creek and dinners in the church yard on sheets on the ground.

"It was so amazing to see people coming on horses and buggies ... they came from near and far," she said. "The preacher was paid a dollar here and there and we would have 'poundings,' like a grocery shower where people would bring whatever they had to give him. Now days people live next door to the church and it's too far to walk."

"Back then it was different," said Miss Lois. "My daddy raised things in the garden and we made butter, raised our own meat ... and he would give it to people. Daddy worked for 50 cents a day, but we had the farm and some of the time he and five of the older kids would get a dollar to plow a field, a dollar for all of us."

"The kids would pick berries for ten cents a gallon. Many nights we ate cornbread and milk," she said. "We'd hang our stockings up at Christmas and be lucky to get apples and oranges and a few pieces of hard candy, but we helped other people and we were happy."

She remembers when the first car passed through the area on what was then the Columbia Gainesville Rd., a dirt road. Everyone stopped what they were doing to go see what it looked like, she said.

"My brother bought his first car for $45 and spent all day riding everyone up and down. It was fun," she said. "It took all day to get to Bay St. Louis by wagon.

went to eat (they ate before the children) Miss Lois and one of her brothers tried to pull the grapes off the hat. Of course what they didn't realize was that the grapes were not real, but they ruined the hat trying to pull them off and got nothing in Picayune for $7 a week. That first week she only worked a few days.

"When I got my first pay check it was $3.80 and was the most money I had ever seen," she said. "I bought me a pair of high heel shoes for 49 cents."

The next year she married her husband Clyde Metzler, a man she had known all her life. The marriage produced eleven children.

"We didn't have TV's back then," she said.

With the arrival of the space center, came new highways and not a minute too soon for the Metzler family. Clyde had taken ill and Lois had managed to scrap together a thousand dollars by working in the fields and doing other odd jobs. Not enough to sustain the large family for long.

"I said Lord what am I going to do and I looked out my window and saw men surveying on our property," she said. "I went out and asked them what they were doing and they said, Mame Interstate 59 is coming through."

"I said are they going to take my land and they said yes, but they will pay you for it. Then the railroad came through and paid me too. We could build our house and with eleven kids I said I wanted it to be all bedrooms and bathrooms."

One story will remain unpublished at her request and that is of the pet bull, Old Zeke. Suffice it to say that it involved the advent of Roman Candles and rumors of a lightning strike.

Miss Lois
Thigpen Metzler was recently the guest of Senator Trent Lott
in Washington D. C.

We never got to go to town and when we did it was like going to New York City."

"Santa Rosa wasn't much, a little old community, a couple of little old stores, churches, the school and not much else; we did have some bar rooms," she said. "Everyone got along and helped one another. If someone got sick you went and you helped and you just don't see that anymore, honey."

One of her fond memories is of the turkey fans Her daddy would kill a turkey and hang it up to smoke and dry and the kids would make fans out of the feathers. Another memory is of a visitor for dinner who came with a beautiful straw hat decorated with the prettiest grapes on it and we wanted some of those grapes, she said. So when the adults but tough eating for their effort.

In high school she remembers a place in the Kiln called the Cow Shed where kids went to dance. Her daddy hated drinking and dancing, she said, so she had to sneak over.

"I don't know what I expected, Hollywood I guess, but it was an awful place and I never went back," she said.

Miss Lois also remembers that many people around the Kiln area made white lighting or moonshine for a living.

"The boys would help their daddy's and come to school smelling like sour mash," she said.

Miss Lois wanted to go on to college to be a teacher but the family couldn't afford to send her so she went to work at a garment factory truck! Let me tell you."

I found the silver Ranger sitting in the driveway like it belonged. I walked around it and made sure everything was OK. It was. I wiped the windshield. It looked good and it was mine.

We got another car the following year and while this one was registered in both our names, Stella assumed it as hers, and I wisely never tried to dissuade her.

One of the service station people came by and gave me a large cup with water and ice, assuring me that the tow truck would probably be by any minute. I thanked her and got up and walked outside to the pickup, raising the hood to signal the tow truck. The Ranger didn't look bad sitting there. The smell was still strong though and I wasn't fooled.

My old Monte Carlo had been a comfortable car, and I had been riding in it years ago when I went to Picayune to pick up bread for a party at the test site. I passed the Ford dealership on the way. There, sitting in their lot, draped in large banners, was a silver 1989 Ford Ranger pickup with chrome wheels. It was a heady sight.

As I bought the bread, all I could think about was that brand new 1989 silver Ranger. For years and years I had been wanting a pickup truck and sitting in that car lot waiting for me was the pickup of my dreams. I wanted that truck!

I left the bakery and drove slowly back to the dealership. The truck was still there. I drove by twice. Finally, I pulled into the car lot and parked near the silver Ranger. Climbing out of the Monte Carlo, I began to look at the pickup more closely. It was a beautiful truck. In addition to the fancy chrome wheels, it had a black plastic bed liner, faux-wood dash and semi-bucket seats. The price was just over $8,000.

"Howdy! Howdy! Ain't she a beauty? I can have you drive her home today, no problem. And I'll get you a good price on your Monte Carlo, too."

I turned and looked at the salesman. He was almost a cartoon of a short, plump "good ol' boy." He smiled as if he was as happy as I was that we had found this truck.

"I'll take it," I said before I could stop myself. "What do I have to do?"

Now in front of me at a

Mandeville Quick Stop Service Station, it sat leaking fluids, in bad shape. If this was not the end, it was the beginning of the end. Stella had been saying our vehicles were getting old, but I had never really believed her. I thought the silver Ranger with its pretty wheels would always be there for me to drive.

The big tow/carrier truck pulled beside me and the driver got out, took my AAA number and in moments had the pickup on the carrier. After I climbed in, carrying my few things in a small book bag, we drove off to Waveland. He dropped the pickup at Jack's Firestone on 603 and took me home. Jack called me the next day: blown engine gasket, cracked head, radiator gone, catalytic converter (the culprit) gone, and an assortment of small other things also gone.

"But we can fix it, Mr. Paul. Give us till the end of next week to get all the parts and it will be in your driveway good as new!"

It was expensive, but he was as good as his promise and I drive it now, but things have changed between us. Immortality doesn't seem to last as long as it used to.

It may be hard to see how the verbena, salvia and scaevola could possibly work together, but this is where the gold comes in. Whether it is coleus, Joseph's coat, chamaecyparis or some of all three, these become the golden threads on which the flowers are weaved. It resembles a gold necklace with sapphires.

NOTICE OF TAX INCREASE
CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS

The City of Bay St. Louis will hold a public hearing on a proposed ad valorem tax revenue increase for fiscal year 2003-2004 on Monday, September 8, 2003, at 5:00 P.M. at the City Hall Annex, 111 Court Street.

The City of Bay St. Louis is now operating with projected total budget revenue of $6,444,298. Of that amount 8.83 percent of such revenue is obtained through ad valorem taxes. For next fiscal year, the proposed budget has a total projected revenue of $6,931,766. Of that amount, 19.31 percent is proposed to be financed through a total ad valorem tax levy.

For next fiscal year, the City of Bay St. Louis plans to increase your ad valorem tax millage rate by 9.5 mills, from 10.5 mills to 20 mills. This increase means that you will pay more in ad valorem taxes on your home, automobile tag, utilities, business fixtures and equipment and rental real property.

Any citizen of the City of Bay St. Louis is invited to attend this public hearing on the ad valorem tax increase, and will be allowed to speak for a reasonable amount of time and offer tangible evidence before any vote is taken.

Peak hurricane season is here: Top five tips to prepare for the worse

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Free BoatU.S. Hurricane Preparation Guide
Available

Is your boat ready for storm surge, driving winds, and torrential downpours? With the peak hurricane season upon us, Boat Owners Association of The United States has these top five tips to help weather the storm:

Keep it high and dry: Boats stored ashore are far more likely to survive than boats in the water. After the boats in its outer harbor were devastated in 1983 by Hurricane Alicia, the Houston Yacht Club responded by devising a comprehensive hurricane plan that includes the evacuation of all vessels. At Martha's Vineyard Shipyard, the marina has put together a list of emergency employees to assist the regular staff with the rush removals, each one being 11 pre-assigned to a specific duty so all goes smoothly.

These marinas, and many others, recognize that the key to weathering the storm is preparation - both by individual boat owners and marina personnel. Now is the time to review your marina's contract or boat club's rules for hurricane preparation and cement a plan with them.

Ensure your marina and boat are ready: There is a huge difference in how marinas prepare for a major storm. How well your marina is currently organized can tell you a lot about how well your boat will fare in the slip during a storm. Boats in poorly maintained, unorganized and cluttered marinas usually fare the worst in hurricanes.

Poorly sited marinas - those in unprotected areas, also face higher risks. When Hurricane Andrew decimated South Florida in 1992, most boats in the well-protected Coco Plum Marina survived. Marinas with floating docks and tall pilings also provide a safer solution than fixed docks as extra scope is not needed and docks will not float away over the pilings.

If you plan on leaving your boat in the water, be sure you'll have everything you'll need to secure it well in advance.

If your plan is to leave it at a slip, take inventory of your dock lines, chafe protection and other items such as fenders and duct tape. After Hurricane Fran hit in 1996, the BoatU.S. Catastrophe Response Team estimated that as many as half the damaged boats at marinas could have been saved by longer and thicker dock lines and adequate chafe protection - the first items to sell out once a hurricane "warning" is posted.

Find the right 'hole': If you plan on moving your vessel to a hurricane hole - a canal, river or harbor that offers better protection - it's important to remember that the storm surge may be ten feet high or greater. Seawalls and jetties that might otherwise protect your boat could be underwater. One other consideration: Plan on moving your boat early, as soon as a "warning" has been posted. Otherwise, you may find the best spots are already taken or that bridges have been locked down to evacuate automobiles.

Check your policy: An up-to-date insurance policy can mean success or failure in quickly returning the vessel to its pre-storm condition. Does your policy include all of your recently installed electronics or other upgrades? BoatU.S. also offers Hurricane Haul Out coverage that will pay half of all costs associated with pre-storm haul out - up to $500 - for only $25 a year.

Trailerable boats should be relocated as far as possible above the anticipated storm surge and made secure. Boats on storage racks, davits and lifts should be put on trailers and taken inland.

Read up: For more information on hurricane protection, BoatU.S. publishes a free brochure, Hurricane Warning: A Guide to Preparing Boats and Marinas for Hurricanes and includes a free Hurricane Planning Worksheet that takes boaters step-by-step through the storm preparation procedures. For both of these free valuable tools and for other information on hurricanes, visit www.BoatUS.com or call 800-283-2883.

BoatU.S. - Boat Owners Association of The United States - is the nation's leading advocate for recreational boaters and provides its 540,000 members with a wide array of consumer services including a group-rate marine insurance program that provides over $7 billion in hull coverage; the largest fleet of more than 400 towing assistance vessels; discounts on fuel, slips, and repairs at over 700 marinas; boat financing; and a subscription to BoatU.S. Magazine, the most widely read boating publication in the U.S. For membership information visit www.BoatUS.com or call 800-395-2628.

Home From Abroad

Think you can't afford quality furniture?
How about handcrafted solid teak & mahogany?
Home From Abroad offers beautiful handcrafted furniture and accessories sure to suit your style, but also your budget.

Discover beautiful handmade treasures from exotic lands to compliment your dining room, office, bedroom, and more!!!

But this little store offers more than just indoor home furnishings...

Stylish outdoor teak furniture to accent you pool, garden, patio, and deck. Genuine teak (tectona grandis) combines the quality of a rich and pleasing appearance with a durability that is unequalled by any other timber. Teakwood has a naturally high oil content which makes it both stable and resistant to rotting when exposed to the extremes of both summer and winter weather. For several centuries these preferred qualities have made teakwood the ultimate choice for marine decking and construction, and is the reason that it is today the premium timber for outdoor furniture.

Home From Abroad is located at 360 Courthouse Road, Suite A in Gulfport. Hours are Monday - Saturday 10am - 6pm or call 228-897-9113.

Facts About The BIBLE

THE MAGNITUDE OF THE BIBLICAL ARMIES
THE ARMY OF ISRAEL CONSISTED OF INFANTRY ONLY AND WAS COMPOSED OF SPEARMEN, SLINGERS, AND ARCHERS. (NUM. 11:21) IT INCLUDED ALL THE ABLE BODIED MEN OF THE NATION FROM TWENTY YEARS OLD AND UPWARD, ABLE TO GO FORTH TO WAR. THE LEVITES WERE THE ONLY MALES EXEMPTED FROM SERVICE BECAUSE THEY WERE THE PRIESTHOOD. WHEN KING SOLOMON RULED, HE ADDED CAVALRY AND CHARIOTS TO HIS FORCES, SWELLING THE NUMBERS AND THEREBY INCREASING THEIR EFFECTIVE POWER. HOWEVER, WHEN IT CAME TO GREAT POWER, THE ANCIENT ARMIES OF NEBUCHADNEZZAR OF BABYLON OUT-RANKED THEM ALL! BESIDES INFANTRY AND CAVALRY HE EMPLOYED A CORPS OF ELEPHANT DRIVERS, POSSIBLY THE FORERUNNER OF THE MODERN-DAY TANK. IT WAS JUST SUCH AN IMPOSING FORCE THAT ONE DAY, SUDDENLY, ENCLOSED JERUSALEM.....

...AND JERUSALEM LIES AT THE MERCY OF NEBUCHADNEZZAR'S BESIEGING ARMY.

Court St. Cabaret offers 'Coupla White Chicks' through Sept. 20

Celene Mielcarek, left, and Bonnie Pardo in a scene from Court St. Cabaret's production of "A Coupla White Chicks Sitting Around Talking" through Sept. 20.

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Court St. Cabaret will present "A Coupla White Chicks Sitting Around Talking" through Sept. 20.

Colleen Abadie will direct this comedy by John Ford Noonan starring local performers Bonnie Pardo and Celene Mielcarek.

Pardo has starred in Minacapelli's Dinner Theater in Slidell and was nominated for a Ginny Award for best actress as Kate in "Brighton Beach Memoirs" at Slidell Little Theater.

Mielcarek has appeared in numerous shows and recently moved to Bay St. Louis. She recently moved to Bay St. Louis from Chicago and was recently married.

Seating for dinner begins at 6 p.m. with show time at 8 on Fridays and Saturdays.

For dinner and the show, tickets are $30 per person. Tickets for the show only are $15 per person. A matinee is scheduled for Sept. 14 with seating for lunch beginning at 1 p.m. and the show starting at 3 p.m.

To make reservations or for more information, call 228-467-3636. The theater is located at 200 South Beach Blvd. in Bay St. Louis.

The Temptations appear at Casino Magic BSL

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Casino Magic in Bay St. Louis is proud to welcome the "standard-bearers for breathtaking harmonies," The Temptations, September 13 at 9 p.m. Tickets are $19.95, $24.95 and $29.95 and can be purchased at the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 or at any Ticketmaster location.

With a string of hits including: "The Way You Do The Things You Do," "My Girl," "Get Ready," "Ain't Too Proud to Beg," "You're My Everything," "I'm Gonna Make You Love Me" and "I Can't Get Next to You," no other 60's pop group could top them.

These hits and many more were first performed in the early 60's by Otis Williams, David Ruffin, Eddie Kendricks, Melvin Franklin and Paul Williams. They are still lovingly executed today by Otis and their heirs-in-music: Ron Tyson (first tenor), Theo Peoples (baritone), and Harry McGilberry (bass). It proves those men are gone, but in no way forgotten - not by a grateful public or by the men who now carry the legacy forward into the next generation.

The Temptations started out in those Motown bus tours called The Motor Town revues. They crisscrossed the country and the crowds became larger. Today the group still tours, performing at over 100 venues a year.

"We just never stop,"

Williams says, "because I think we've become like a piece of Americana. People want to see us." What they are seeing these days is a group that reminds Williams "more of what the first group of men were like" than any other lineup.

"This group has the talent, determination and brotherhood that will take us forward, give our fans what they come to hear and keep us on our toes doing that Temptations Walk into the year 2004," says Williams.

Don't miss The Temptations in their one performance at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis, Saturday September 13! Must be 21 to attend.

UPN Uploads 'Jake 2.0' to Wednesday night

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

Getting superpowers can be very cool, but it also can torpedo your personal life.

Suddenly, you've got a secret identity with which to deal, not to mention the "with great power comes great responsibility" burden - and to top it off, your body starts doing weird things.

In short, you're leaving normal, and there's no going back.

The newest member of the superhero fraternity makes his debut in "Jake 2.0" Wednesday, Sept. 10, on UPN. Created by Silvio Horta ("The Chronicle") and executive-produced by Gina Matthews ("Popular," "The Chronicle"), Grant Scharbo and David Greenwalt ("Buffy the Vampire Slayer," "Angel"), it stars Christopher Gorham ("Popular") as Jake Foley, a computer technician who longs to be in the spy game.

He gets his wish when an attack on a lab causes Jake accidentally to be injected with nanites - molecule-sized robots - that give him enhanced strength, speed, hearing and vision, along with the ability to interface with any form of technology. Unfortunately, the unpredictable nanites also could kill him.

Before he knows it, Jake is the spy he always wanted to be - but not in quite the way he envisioned. Also complicating his new existence are two women: Diane Hughes (Keegan Connor Tracy), a scientist who watches over Jake; and Sarah Heywood (Marina Black), Jake's college crush, now working as a Washington, D.C., insider.

Gorham, whose youthful looks belie the fact that he's married, says,

"There's just something about this role. When I read this script, I told my wife, 'I have to do this part.' It was just one of those things - it happened to me on 'Popular' - where I just felt the ball start to roll. I felt like it was going to happen. It just felt right."

"Jake, as a person, is pretty close to me. He's a pretty regular guy. He's easy to get along with and generally has good intentions. He's a little bit geeky - all those things."

As much as Gorham loves "Jake," the show's producers love Gorham.

"I can't say enough about Chris Gorham," Greenwalt says. "Just the way he moves in the frame. He makes terrific choices. Sometimes, he's really funny, and sometimes, he's really touching. He's always spot-on, which, when you're making eight pages a day of a TV show, is a real challenge."

"We're on our second show at the moment," Scharbo says, calling in with Matthews from the show's sets in Vancouver. "The first episode was fantastic. It's a big episode, probably as big as the pilot."

"It was David and Grant's episode," Matthews says. "Big surprise there, with David directing."

"In the first episode after the pilot," Greenwalt says, "there's a Mideast terrorist that is up to no good, that Jake goes up against. The first episode feels very big and international, but still sort of small and personal to Jake. We're more into the personal stories, but we will be going overseas and breaking people out of prisons and stuff like that."

"We have gone from stories that are about the launch of a nuclear weapon down to 'How do I afford to get my car fixed?' We're trying to stay in the human world with him."

Christopher Gorham stars as Jake Foley, a computer tech for the NSA who is infected with molecule-sized robots that give him superpowers in "Jake 2.0," premiering Wednesday on UPN.

That, Horta says, is what sets "Jake 2.0" apart from more standard espionage or action dramas. "We try to start at some place of character and theme. We have a slew of stories and missions, but we never go there first."

"We always say, 'This is a cool mission, but where do we get Jake here? How does this tie into our character and how he's growing as a person, as an agent?' So, we always are trying to maintain that."

"Imagine Jake Foley going to his best friend's wedding, but while he's there, he runs into a little problem with the nanites," Scharbo says. "You always go to a wedding and think it's a great place to meet someone, but when he gets there, he's the only single guy left."

Glad actress signs for 'Happy' NBC sitcom

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Q Is the actress who played Joyce DeWitt in "Behind the Camera: The Unauthorized Story of 'Three's Company'" the same lady who does the Glad commercials? -A.L., El Paso, Texas.

A Yes, that's Melanie Paxson, who also plays the daughter of John Larroquette and Christine Baranski in this fall's new NBC sitcom "Happy Family." Paxson made her series debut in the shortlived 1998 Jeremy Piven romantic comedy "Cupid" and also has appeared on "The Drew Carey Show" and "Early Edition."

Q Before Down Under heart-throbs Russell Crowe, Guy Pearce and Hugh Jackman, there was Tom Burlinson ("The Man From Snowy River"). What happened to him? -Jean Kerling, E. Aurora, N.Y.

A Burlinson, who was born in Canada but moved to Australia when he was nearly 10, put his film and TV acting career on hold in the late '90s in favor of a musical cabaret act that exploits his uncanny singing resemblance to Frank Sinatra (Burlinson had provided the singing voice of the young Sinatra in the 1992 "Sinatra" TV movie with Philip Casnoff).

When he isn't touring Australian cities in "Frank - A Life in Song," Burlinson, now 47, makes his home on a ranch with his wife, Mandy, whom he met while performing in a 1993 production of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." They have two children.

Burlinson also is rumored to be in line to star in an Australian production of the Broadway smash "The Producers" starting April, 2004. Fans can find additional information about the star online at an official fan site, <http://www.tomburlinson.homestead.com/>.

Q I read somewhere that Stacy Keach had died last February. Is this the same actor who played Ken Titus on the hilarious but canceled "Titus"? -Adam L., Littleton, Colo.

A No, that was Stacy Keach Sr., the father of the "Titus" star and a character actor in his own right, who died of congestive heart failure in February. The senior Keach was 88. Among his last credits were recurring appearances as Judge Webster on "Doctor Quinn, Medicine Woman," with his daughter-in-law, Jane Seymour, wife of actor-director James Keach.

Vandross tribute highlights UPN's Essence Festival special

By John Crook
© Zap2it

A moving all-star musical tribute to music superstar Luther Vandross is the focal point of "The 2003 Essence Music Festival," a high-energy UPN special premiering Friday, Sept. 12.

Taped before a live audience at the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans over last Fourth of July weekend, the two-hour special, which was not available to preview in its entirety, strives to capture both the great music and the positive vibes that highlight this "party with a purpose." It attracts the largest annual black gathering in the United States, where spectators line up for free empowerment lectures during the day and star-studded music-making at night.

"It's a wonderful feeling, being here," says Ashanti, whose sultry-sweet rendition of "Rock Wit U" was well-received by a capacity audience. "There's a lot of talent here, and we all came to love."

Rapper LL Cool J, whose shirtless performance no doubt put many attendees in an amorous mood, also praises "the incredible energy and love" of the festival, while soul singer Erykah Badu says the fest is "like a family reunion, almost a tribal bonding."

"This year, we had roughly 191,000 people attending, coming from all over the country - from Canada, from the Caribbean - for three days of fun and empowerment," Candace Bond-

McKeever, one of the executive producers of the UPN special, says.

"During the day, we have ... community leaders and African-American leaders from all around the country talking about a wide variety of issues. Also during the day, there's a big cultural arts-and-crafts fair, with artisans from all over the country offering their original wares for sale."

"In the evening, we have the concerts. On the main stage of the Superdome, we featured top artists like Stevie Wonder and Patti LaBelle, but we also have lounge acts going on in four quadrants we call Superlounges. So, while Stevie Wonder is performing on the main stage, we might have someone like Musiq performing on one of those side stages."

Now, imagine all that against a constantly swirling human backdrop of spectators either rubbing up against the cocoon of music that surrounds them or lining up for the local cuisine available: sweet potato pie, beignets, barbecue. Sweet!

The festival, which originated in 1995, has come to enjoy a friendly symbiosis with its host city and, apart from the inevitable but easily anticipated traffic snarls along Bourbon Street, New Orleans has embraced the festival.

In a July 3, 2003, editorial entitled "Essence: Isn't It Lovely?" The Times-Picayune cheered the event. "That such a positive party would take place in New Orleans every year is reason enough for area residents and tourists alike to cheer," the columnist wrote. "New Orleans and the Essence Music Festival have forged an alliance that has proved to be mutually beneficial, and those in town for the event should know that they are welcome."

The Crescent City's flavorful local character also inspired UPN host Steve Harvey to create some original segments for the special, taking viewers on a comic tour of the city and the festival.

But, the main highlight of the UPN special is far more bittersweet: an all-star tribute to Luther Vandross, currently dealing with rehabilitation following a stroke last spring.

"Luther has been on the schedule of the festival almost every year since its inception, and he was on the lineup this year, too," Bond-McKeever says. "He is one of the kings of the festival, so we really wanted to put together a tribute to him. And it turned out wonderfully, but there's a performance by Patti LaBelle and Gerald Levert that is impromptu and incredible, and it just blows you away. The way they perform and interact together I think will surprise people."

"I also think there is a career-defining moment in the Luther tribute by Usher. Luther Vandross' shoes are very hard to fill, and we all wanted to see how Usher was going to perform one of his songs. You'll see it, but the people just rise to their feet, overwhelmed by this young man. It's a moment you just know you aren't going to forget anytime soon."

In the Spotlight

John Walsh keeps hunting for 'America's Most Wanted'

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

As the Elizabeth Smart case reconfirmed, John Walsh can be a crime victim's best friend ... and a criminal's worst enemy.

Walsh and his Fox series, "America's Most Wanted: America Fights Back," played major roles in the rescue of the young Utah kidnapping victim last spring. Walsh later was at the White House for the signing of the Child Protection Act, including a "Code Adam Act," named after his young son who was abducted and murdered in 1981. Credited with facilitating more than 750 captures of fugitives, Walsh and the "America's Most Wanted" franchise start their 17th season Saturday, Sept. 13.

Walsh reflects, "There have been some incredible captures, including 15 guys off the FBI's 10 Most Wanted list over the years. But, the thing we're most proud of at 'America's Most Wanted' are the recoveries of 36 missing kids, Elizabeth Smart's being probably the most high-profile. During those nine months (when she was missing), I became very good friends with the family, and spent a lot of private time on the phone with Ed and Lois Smart (Elizabeth's parents) at their darkest moments, because I'd walked in their shoes."

"America's Most Wanted: America Fights Back" was the first national TV outlet to show a composite image of David Mitchell, the street preacher who called himself Emmanuel and ultimately was found with Elizabeth. Walsh recalls that local police "called her father and said they had a break in the case. He raced from Salt Lake City to Sandy, Utah, and he then called me. I was in my dressing room in New York, working on my daytime show. He said, 'John, you never gave up. Elizabeth is alive. They have her abductors. I haven't even called Lois yet. I had to call you first.'"

"Well, you have no idea," Walsh adds. "I could've walked on the ceiling of that room. Even though the Salt Lake City police chief had said that I was a 'loose cannon,' and that we had no right to show that composite, we went off on our own. It was gut instinct. And you know what? That little girl was recovered alive."

Viewers of "America's Most Wanted: America Fights Back" have grown accustomed to such results, as have many law-enforcement agencies across the country. Some have turned to Walsh and his producers for help, as have many individuals acting on their own - creating both a boon and a dilemma for the program.

"The hardest thing for me is turning down cases," Walsh says. "We just can't keep up with the requests. It's always parents of missing or murdered children who are the most impassioned. They'll tell us, 'I have nowhere to go but to your show, and I know that you will make a difference.' We sometimes have to say no, and it is really, really heartbreaking."

However, the reach of "America's Most Wanted" is expanding through a one-minute, six-days-a-week ABC Radio spot. Walsh hopes those recently started broadcasts will generate the same sort of response the television version maintains.

"It never ceases to amaze me that a show that's 16 years old can still hold its own so strongly," he says. "It's a testament to our viewers. Since Elizabeth Smart's case, we have seen an increase in calls. You know what I think it did? I think it energized this country to (think), 'Don't give up. You can fight back. You can get a happy ending now and then.' I still believe that."

Ashanti is among the top-tier entertainers spotlighted during the "2003 Essence Music Festival," a two-hour music special premiering Friday on UPN.

In addition to some great performances, Bond-McKeever hopes this special managed to catch something more intangible, the lively chemistry between performers and their audience.

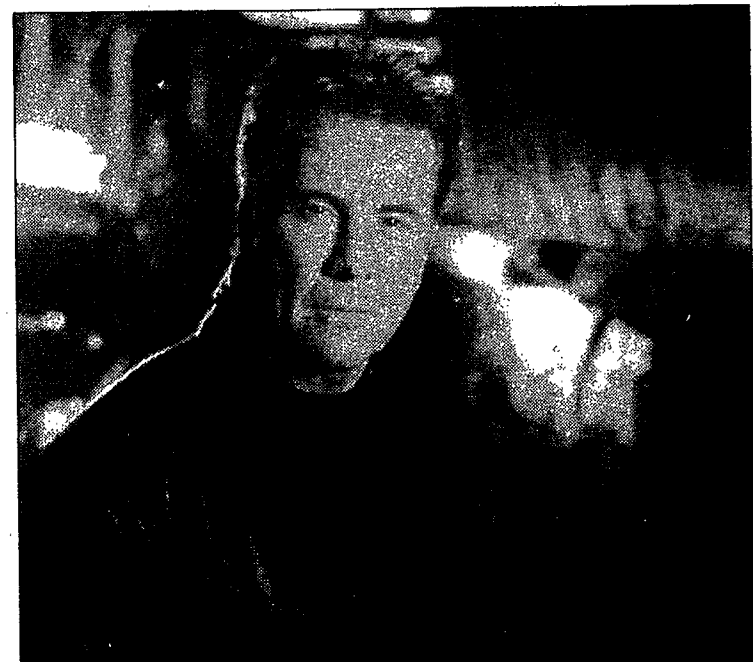

"We've tried to take the best of this enormous event and roll it into a two-hour special, which obviously is very challenging," she says. "But, I truly do think this show captures the spirit of the festival, the good times, the sense of community. It isn't just the musicians and their performances that make this program feel special, it's watching the audience reactions, the way the crowd becomes a part of it all."

"One minute you'll see a couple who obviously consider a number to be 'our song,' then next, everyone's jamming to LL Cool J."

On the cusp of the new fall TV season, this Essence music special promises to pump some fresh air into pooped Friday-night viewers. So, stir up a pot of gumbo, brush up on your electric slide and enjoy.

But don't bogart the beignets.

Host John Walsh continues his crusade to assist law-enforcement agencies in locating fugitives and missing crime victims - with the public's help - as the reality series "America's Most Wanted: America Fights Back" begins a new season Saturday on Fox.

ESPN reels in anglers with "Totally Hooked"

By George Dickie
© Zap2it

Anyone who has ever gone on a fishing charter knows what to expect: spartan conditions, close quarters, peanut butter and jelly sandwiches, and Dramamine.

So the new ESPN outdoors series "Totally Hooked," debuting Monday, Sept. 8, may or may not resemble any fishing trip you've ever done.

Why? First of all, the vessel is a 78-foot yacht equipped with all the latest accouterments, plus a chef, first mate and skipper. Laundry and linens are washed daily and every whim is catered to.

Secondly, the ports of call are a night-lifer's and an angler's dream. The journey started May 15 in Key West, Fla. - Ernest Hemingway's kind of town - and moved north through Miami, the Bahamas and up the Southeast coast of the United States, through Cape Canaveral and Daytona Beach, Fla., Savannah, Ga., and the Outer Banks of North Carolina, before concluding in Virginia Beach, Va., June 23.

Along the way, the six cast members, chosen on the basis of their passion for and knowledge of fishing, along with - judging from the artwork - physical appearance, fished for species such as shark, tarpon, king mackerel and striped bass. In fact, one of the women won a kingfish tournament in Georgetown,

S.C., an unexpected bonus for the show.

But, as is the case whenever you place six young people who are strangers in close proximity for six weeks, throwing in elements such as bad weather and rough seas, there was also conflict. "The unpredictable variables we could not control," coordinating producer Dan Bowen says, "and the result was fantastic, because what you hope for in a situation like this is that everybody gets along, but that everyone, moreover, is real. And being real with one another doesn't necessarily mean getting along all the time."

"So we had people bump into each other, and there was oftentimes a tremendous amount of conflict. But we don't shy away from that because it was just the truth, the actual evolution of people experiencing life in these intimate confines. So, conflict did occur, but no different than the type of conflict you would feel if you went on a six-week trip with your old buddy from high school."

And as one would expect on any long boat trip, there are moments when those aboard are feeling less than themselves. "Certainly we had periods where people were feeling seasick and homesick, and that was another interesting aspect of the program," Bowen says. "There were relatively young people on this vessel. This was a first-time experience for them. So homesickness was probably the sickness that people felt a great deal of.

"But a wide-eyed wonder was another aspect of the program," Bowen continues, "just these people seeing so many aspects of life, not just on an interpersonal level, but in terms of the experiences they were having. The fishing was fantastic. It was diverse. The locations were fantastic. They too were diverse. And it was just one daily wave of experiences after another after another after another, and they just never knew what was going to hit them next."

Especially cast member Tara Sweatt, the winner of the South Carolina fishing tournament. "We entered the six people we took with us on the voyage," Bowen says, "and one of the girls won the tournament in the women's category outright, which was not only a phenomenal anomaly, but I never would have expected - we had our camera crew; we were there; we were at this event, and we thought we'll film it. We'll film the tournament and we'll see if any one of the six of our anglers would have a decent go of it. But to actually walk away with the top prize in the women's category not only bode very well for the credibility of how skilled the six of our anglers are on this show, but it unto itself made for just fantastic television because of the drama."

"Mexico at U.S. National Team" Sunday, Sept. 7 (ESPN, 1 p.m. ET): A programming option for those not fixated on NFL action is this live soccer match, which pits the U.S. Women's National Team against Mexico in San Jose, Calif. It's the final send-off for the U.S. team - 9-1-3 in its first 13 matches this year - before beginning preparations for hosting the World Cup in two weeks. The 2003 squad includes a mix of veteran leaders such as Mia Hamm and youngsters like Aly Wagner and Cat Reddick.

"Tampa Bay Buccaneers at Philadelphia Eagles" Monday, Sept. 8 (ABC, 9 p.m. ET): The raucous reception of the home crowd will have to wait a week for the champion Tampa Bay Buccaneers, who open their season against the Eagles at the brand new Lincoln Financial Field in Philadelphia. Brad Johnson's steady play at quarterback helped the Bucs achieve Super status. A repeat of that, plus their strong defense, may get them there again. The Eagles, too, have high hopes this year, especially with the return of a healthy Donovan McNabb.

"Notre Dame at Michigan" Saturday, Sept. 13 (ABC, 3:30 p.m. ET): A killer schedule continues for Notre Dame when they take on Big Ten power Michigan in Ann Arbor. The Irish offense is still meshing - there are four new offensive line starters - but quarterback Carlisle Holiday and solid running backs will help temper any growing pains. The Wolverines, who should challenge national champion Ohio State in its conference, are experienced on both sides of the ball, especially with senior John Navarre running the offense.

Family Best Bets

Sunday

11 a.m. on HBO

Movie: Captain Ron

An overworked Chicago businessman (Martin Short) inherits a yacht and decides to take his family on a relaxing voyage. He hires Captain Ron (Kurt Russell), a man who is more laid-back than a California beach bunny. Martin (Short) struggles to rein in his captain as well as hold on to his sanity — an unlikely accomplishment in this 1992 comedy. Mary Kay Place co-stars.

Monday

7:30 a.m. and HBO

Movie: School Ties

A gifted football player at an exclusive prep school where anti-Semitism is virulent hides his Jewish heritage in this 1992 film set in the 1950s. His identity is revealed by a jealous teammate, causing all the boys to face their prejudice. Brendan Fraser, Matt Damon, Chris O'Donnell and Cole Hauser star.

6 p.m. and DSC

Monster Trucks

Emitting a dull roar and spitting dirt from under gigantic tires, monster trucks evoke enthusiastic reactions from diehard fans. This special chronicles the history of the huge vehicles, which have a past rooted in the fields and farms of Middle America.

Thursday

6 p.m. on HBO

In Memoriam: New York City, 9/11/01

Former mayor Rudolph Giuliani plays a major role in this documentary, which merges video footage and photographs taken by New York residents into a remembrance of Sept. 11, 2001. Giuliani and his then-assistants are seen making their way, moment by moment, through Ground Zero, where the twin towers once stood.

Friday

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

2003 Essence Music Festival

This new musical celebration is hopping at the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans. Scheduled performers include Ashanti, Erykah Badu, Patti LaBelle, Gerald Levert, LL Cool J, Chaka Khan, Tamia, Mo'Nique and Stevie Wonder. Performers also pay tribute to Luther Vandross.

Saturday

10 a.m. on TBS

Movie: Private Benjamin

A sheltered, slightly ditsy young woman (Goldie Hawn), widowed on her wedding night, joins the Army on a lark, believing the grandiose promises of the recruiting brochures. She soon finds out that as the old song says, there are "no private rooms or telephones" — or any of the other amenities to which she's accustomed. Basic training is a near-disaster, but she acquires the skills of a soldier, and the confidence to become her own woman in this 1980 comedy.

12:15 p.m. on TBS

Movie: The Golden Child

It's not as good as "48 Hrs." but this 1986 action-comedy movie again has Eddie Murphy walking the beat. He stars as Chandler Jarrell, a cop with an uncanny ability to find lost children. He is drafted by a Buddhist emissary (Charlotte Lewis) to seek and protect The Golden Child (J.L. Reate), a little boy with mystic abilities who was kidnapped by an evil sorcerer. Victor Wong and Charles Dance co-star.

TV Trivia

George Takei's ("DC 9/11: Time of Crisis") favorite movies are "Lawrence of Arabia" and "The Bridge Over the River Kwai."

Aimee Garcia ("All About the Andersons") has degrees in journalism and economics, and once worked on Wall Street as an analyst.

Christopher Gorham ("Jake 2.0") won a competition in high school and was named "Young Man Talent of the Year."

Loni Anderson's ("The Mulets") parents died of smoking-related complications, and she is a vocal nonsmoking advocate.

Mekhi Phifer's ("8 Mile") first public photo shoot was in a photo booth at a local Woolworth, where he had his required head shot taken.

Sunday Best Bets

6 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Movie: City Slickers

Three friends (Billy Crystal, Daniel Stern, Bruno Kirby) battle their midlife crises by spending two weeks on a cattle drive out West. Along the way, they learn a little about cowboy life and a lot about life in general. Jack Palance won an Oscar and a Golden Globe for his portrayal of Curly, the trail boss, in this warmhearted 1991 comedy. Helen Slater and Patricia Wettig co-star.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Charmed

The Halliwell sisters are swept into Greek mythology in "Oh My Goddess." The witches are caught in the battle between long-imprisoned gods and their captors, known as Elders. After the siblings have a close call, Leo (Brian Krause) turns them into Greek goddesses with the ability to defeat the enemies. However, Leo's move may take him away from Piper (Holly Marie Combs).

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

Movie: Breakdown

Kurt Russell and Kathleen Quinlan play a couple stranded in the desert in this 1997 thriller, which proves why you should never accept rides from strangers. The wife does when a trucker (J.T. Walsh) offers to drive her into town, then does a Hitchcockian disappearing act. Her husband's efforts to find her could cost him his sanity as well as his life, since nobody — including the man who picked her up — will admit to having seen her.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS

Mystery!

"Payment in Blood," the second of the new "Inspector Lynley Mysteries," thrusts the police detective (Nathaniel Parker) into a game similar to "Clue" — but the murder is for real. The victim is a playwright, and suspects include a theater mogul (Ronald Pickup) and an actor (Idris Elba, "The Wire") who starred in one of the victim's plays. The story was filmed at the former home of ex-Beatle George Harrison.

Alyssa Milano and Holly Marie Combs

All My Children

Kendall met with a man who resembled Michael and later returned to her Las Vegas hotel with blood on her shoe. Back in Pine Valley, Kendall stunned everyone by declaring that she married Michael in Las Vegas. However, as Kendall was cleaning a stain in Michael's condo, Aidan suddenly arrived and kissed her. Greenlee tested Mary and was surprised when Mary broke a date with Juan Pablo to have dinner with her, suspecting that Mary might be telling the truth about Jack's behavior during her pregnancy. Coming: Anna makes a painful decision.

As the World Turns

Rose broke up with Dusty after he withheld telling her about his encounter with Jen, including the passionate kiss Jen planted on him. Emily bought Chris at the bachelor auction as a gift for Alison, leading to Alison and Chris making love for the first time. Margo finally got through to Mordecai on the phone, as Katie managed to sneak a clue to her sister from the basement. Coming: Rosanna gets closer to uncovering Craig's deception.

Bold and Beautiful

Amber was devastated when the judge awarded custody of little Eric to Deacon. On hearing Eric's reluctance to go with Deacon, Amber took the child, left a note and fled, and Deacon reported her to the police for kidnapping. When Ridge announced his intention to install Brooke as CEO of Spectra and rename it Logan Designs, Sally feigned having a heart attack in order to make sure that Massimo wouldn't give away her company. After she admitted the fakery, Sally warned Massimo against giving the business to Brooke but a relieved Ridge started heating things up with Brooke. Coming: Amber is on the run!

Days of Our Lives

Mimi was horrified to learn that her rent check bounced and discovered her bank account empty. Meanwhile, Mimi's mother Bonnie was shown with a stack of lottery tickets. Abe and Jack secretly made arrangements with Mickey to update their wills, only to have Lexie and Jennifer overhear their discussion. Tony convinced Sami — miserable in her basement office at Basic Black — that her own family is out to get her. Coming: Sami hears from Brandon.

General Hospital

Courtney fell further under the influence of pain pills and when she ran out, Alcazar arranged for her to get more. After Ric fueled Courtney's paranoia by telling her he thinks Jason and Elizabeth are seeing each other, she angrily drove off. Faith, upset by Carly, drove away in her car, as did Ric, who was also angry. As she crossed the street, a car hit Elizabeth. Coming: Elizabeth gets shattering news.

Guiding Light

Phillip came up with a compromise that involved him moving back to the house to help Beth watch over Lizzie, as Lillian also opted to move in. Lizzie was thrilled to know that Phillip and Beth would be under the same roof, but Olivia sensed it might be the end for her and Phillip. Beth confided in Jeffrey about Lizzie, and his compassion led her to kiss him again.

Soap Synopsis

Despite his love for Marah, Tony believed they have insurmountable differences and told her they're through. Cassie stopped Edmund from blaming himself for her infertility. Coming: Gus wants to patch things up with Eden.

One Life to Live

Al and Marcie made love for the first time, but he and Max later brought her to the hospital when she almost fainted. Blair refused to heed Kelly's warning that Walker is an imposter. Meanwhile, Elyssa tried to find the real Walker in Atlantic City. Kelly found herself in danger as Kevin was about to be appointed lieutenant governor in the face of Dawes' threats. R.J. secretly drained the brake fluid from Keri's car and then told Bo that Antonio tried to kill Keri. David forced Dorian to go along with his scheme to collect insurance money for the Badhra diamond. Coming: Al fears for his life.

Passions

Whitney convinced Fox to go along with Theresa's plan to make Ethan jealous when Fox realized that Whitney would be working closely with him. When Gwen pushed the idea to Ethan of Fox and Theresa as a couple, she was confused by his objections. Gwen realized that Theresa might be in Los Angeles. Kay "accidentally" fell down the stairs, causing Miguel to fuss over her and delay his date with Charity. Coming: Sheridan strikes back at Charlie.

Port Charles

Ian persuaded Chris to give him the experimental drug, but Ian's anger caused his vampire symptoms to return. Caleb realized that Livvie replaced his ring with a fake, while Livvie used the ring to make wishes involving Jack and Caleb. Imani denied to Jamal that she murdered her professor. Later, a mysterious man looked at a photo of Imani. After Rafe admitted he would focus his attention on loving Alison rather than fighting with Caleb, he was released from hell. Coming: Lucy uses her powers to prevent a tragedy.

Young and Restless

Ashley was in critical condition following the car accident, and Olivia told Brad she must deliver the baby immediately to try to save both their lives. Bobby convinced Brittany to stay at the club, promising he'll get people from the music business to see her. When Brittany told Raul of her decision to remain in her job, he gave her an ultimatum — quit, or lose him. J.T. turned down Bobby's job offer and ordered him to stay out of Brittany's personal life. Kay admitted to Jill that she was testing her sincerity. Victor ordered Michael to keep an eye on Damon's whereabouts. Coming: Trading blame over Ashley's accident.

Real women fulfill their dreams in reality show

By Candace Havens
© Zap2it

The producers of "The Real World" are bringing their brand of reality television to daytime.

"Starting Over," a new NBC Entertainment syndicated series airing Monday, Sept. 8, focuses on women who try to make a new start by changing their lives.

The women are from diverse backgrounds and want to accomplish a variety of different things. They live together in a Chicago home, and the amount of time each woman spends there depends on her individual goals. Some live there a few weeks, while others may be there six weeks or more.

"For instance, Maureen's goal is to be a stand-up comedian, which is a little easier to reach than maybe someone who is trying to learn to trust other women," executive producer Jon Murray says.

Two life coaches work with the women to help them accomplish what is needed to move their lives forward. The show's soap-opera quality quickly develops since there is a great deal of conflict between the women.

"We actually feel that this show takes sort of the best of what works with 'Dr. Phil' and 'Oprah,' and puts it into more of a natural setting, which is a household," Murray says. "Amazingly, a lot of the issues that those women have are played out while living with the other women in the house. It's a real-life soap opera starring mature women. It's also positive and inspirational."

Dear Candace: I found your column about Natalia Livingston (Emily Quartermaine, "General Hospital") both informative and refreshing. I've been a big fan of the Emily character and story line for years.

While I enjoyed Amber Tamblyn's performance in the role, there is something magnetic about Livingston's portrayal.

I especially enjoy when Nikolas (Tyler Christopher) reads to Emily from her favorite book. Can you tell me what book it is and where I can find it? —Lorraine Ryan, Locust Grove, Virg.

Dear Reader: The book is called "The Captain of My Dreams," and it is a fictional creation of the talented "GH" writing team.

Send questions of general interest to Candace Havens, Soap Talk, Zap2it, 333 Glen St., Glens Falls, NY 12801, or e-mail to soaptalk@tribune.com. Only questions selected for this column will be answered. Personal replies cannot be sent.

Movie: Four Weddings and a Funeral

Hugh Grant and Andie MacDowell star in this 1994 romantic comedy as wedding guests who immediately are attracted to each other, and continue to cross paths at a series of momentous occasions. Kristin Scott Thomas, Simon Callow, Corin Redgrave and Rowan Atkinson also star.

7 p.m. on HALL

Movie: Diary of a Perfect Murder

After he played an attorney in the miniseries "Fatal Vision," Andy Griffith was summoned to star as another lawyer in his long-running series "Matlock." In this 1986 pilot movie for that show, the cagey Southerner represents a television reporter (Steve Inwood) suspected of killing his ex-wife. Lori Lethin plays Matlock's daughter here, but Linda Purl has the role in the series.

Tuesday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 38-WB Gilmore Girls

Post-argument emotions steer Rory and Jess (Alexis Bledel, Milo Ventimiglia) away from each other in "Say Goodnight, Gracie." Jess has other troubles, since the father he's never known (guest star Rob Estes, "Melrose Place") suddenly arrives in Stars Hollow and seeks him out. Lorelai and Sookie (Lauren Graham, Melissa McCarthy) get an unexpected chance to own the Dragonfly Inn.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC Whoopi

After her stint as the "center square" in "Hollywood Squares," Whoopi Goldberg tackles another regular TV gig as this sitcom premieres. The Oscar winner plays a former singer who now runs a New York hotel, where the staff and guests are subjected to her candid comments on anything and everything. Her brother (Wren T. Brown) isn't immune from her opinions on his interracial romance; Elizabeth Regen plays his girlfriend.

7 p.m. on 19-PBS Nova

The collapse of the two towers is one of the most indelible images of Sept. 11, 2001. "Why the Towers Fell" examines the factors that led them to crumble straight down, rather than tumble to one side and potentially destroy many of the surrounding structures. Forensic engineers reveal findings that put perspective on a scene most people will never forget.

7:30 p.m. on 6-NBC Happy Family

Emmy winners John Larroquette ("Night Court") and Christine Baranski ("Cybill") team up to play the heads of a family that really isn't so happy as this sitcom premieres. One of the couple's sons (Tyler Francavilla) is involved with an older neighbor (Susan Gibney), while the other (Jeff B. Davis) is engaged — but wooing another woman. The guys' over-achieving sister (Melanie Paxson) is on the verge of exploding.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX The O.C.

Kristen's (Kelly Rowan) focus on planning her visiting father's birthday party is interrupted by her dismay over his new love in the new episode "The Girlfriend." Ryan's (Benjamin McKenzie) presence in the Cohen household also becomes a sticking point when Dad's girlfriend starts displaying an apparent interest in Ryan. Julie (Melinda Clarke) tells Jimmy (Tate Donovan) she wants a divorce.

8 p.m. on 38-WB Smallville

Clark (Tom Welling) is helpless to stop a gang of thieves who rob LutherCorp, since their loot includes kryptonite, in "Witness." What's worse, the criminals assault Jonathan and Martha (John Schneider, Annette O'Toole), leaving Clark afraid to go to the police for fear of further attacks.

8:30 p.m. on 6-NBC Good Morning, Miami

Eager to make his move on the newly unattached Dylan (Ashley Williams), Jake (Mark Feuerstein) tries to shore up his chances by finding her ex-beau

Gavin (Matt Letscher) another girlfriend in "The Slow and the Furious." Frank (Jere Burns) encourages Claire (Suzanne Pleshette) to end a long-lasting feud by making amends with an ill friend.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

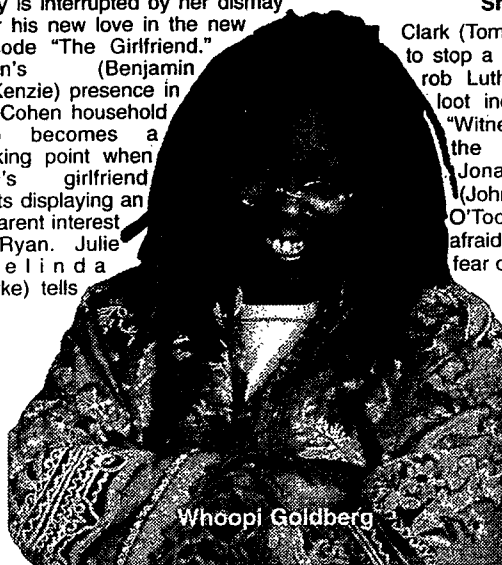

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

Ileana Douglas ("Stir of Echoes") began a recurring role as a public defender in "Juvenile." Her client is one of two youngsters accused of raping and killing an alleged drug dealer. After Fin, Benson and Stabler (Ice-T, Mariska Hargitay, Christopher Meloni) find the boy, Assistant District Attorney Cabot (Stephanie March) wages an internal office battle over the charges that may be brought against him.

9:25 p.m. on AMC

Movie: To Catch a Thief

A reformed burglar (Cary Grant) becomes the prime suspect in a new outbreak of jewel thefts on the French Riviera. He sets out in search of the copycat thief, armed with an insurance agent's list of possible future victims.

Wednesday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

That '70s Show

A convention of nurses means different things to different people in "You Shook Me." Kitty (Debra Jo Rupp) can't wait to have the wild weekend she enjoys each year, while Hyde and Kelso (Danny Masterson, Ashton Kutcher) simply want to gawk at the visitors. Hyde gets even closer to one nurse, prompting Kelso to tell Jackie (Mila Kunis).

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Ed

Carol and Frankie (Julie Bowen, Sabrina Lloyd) become over rivals for Ed's (Tom Cavanagh) affection in "The Movie." Carol wants him back, but Ed is just as concerned about a former teacher (guest star Christopher Lloyd, "Taxi") who needs his help in the courtroom. Warren (Justin Long) is devastated when Stella (Nicki Aycox), his true love and Carol's younger sister, decides to return to Boston.

7 p.m. on 19-PBS

The Sacred Balance

David Suzuki's new miniseries continues as Part 2. "The Matrix of Life," examines the relationship between water and air. Along the Ganges River in Africa, a Hindu priest and engineer explains how nature's elements work together to support life. A visit to Shark Bay in Australia yields evidence of bacteria's role in letting life create its own environment billions of years ago. A Brazilian rain forest also is explored.

7 p.m. and DSC

Cleopatra's Lost City

The Egyptian city of Alexandria was named after its founder, Alexander the Great, but Queen Cleopatra is one of the figures linked most closely to the location — partially because she was the last of Alexander's descendants to be connected to the ancient world Alexandria represented. This new special uses recently discovered information to project how the city would look today.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Angel

Alyson Hannigan makes a crossover appearance in her "Buffy the Vampire Slayer" role as Willow in "Orpheus." Fred (Amy Acker) seeks help from Willow, who may be the only person able to turn Angelus (David Boreanaz) back into Angel. Faith (Eliza Dushku) and Angelus have recollections of the good deeds performed by Angel.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS

Art in the Twenty-First Century

More works by contemporary artists are showcased in the conclusion of this new documentary. Choreographer Merce Cunningham has a m hosts the first hour, "Time," which demonstrates the influence of the passage of days and years on the works of Martin Puryear, Paul Pfeiffer and others. In the concluding portion, "Humor," host Margaret Cho surveys satirical efforts by Eleanor Antin, Raymond Pettibon and Elizabeth Murray.

8 p.m. on 54-UPN

Jackie 2.0

He isn't Superman or Spider-Man, but a computer geek (Christopher Gorham, "Popular") inherits many of the same heroic traits in this adventure series. The premiere episode explains how the National Security Agency work-er gets infested with nanites — tiny computers that allow him to perform amazing feats. Those prove beneficial to the congressional aide (Marina Black) he likes, although she doesn't suspect his new abilities.

9 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

The Family

One of the relatives from the Northeast will walk away a lot richer than when he or she entered a Florida mansion, as this reality series reaches the end of its season. Host George Hamilton observes the final goings-on among the remaining competitors, who jockey for the $1 million grand prize.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order

A private elementary school's admissions chief is murdered in "Kid Pro Quo," sending Briscoe and Green (Jerry Orbach, Jesse L. Martin) in search of the killer. Suspects include parents desperate to get their children into the school, but the investigation eventually focuses on the headmaster (guest star Roger Rees, "Cheers"). Gathering solid evidence against him proves challenging.

In Memoriam: New York City, 9/11/01

Former Mayor Rudolph Giuliani plays a major role in this documentary, which merges video footage and photographs into a remembrance of Sept. 11, 2001.

8:30 p.m. on 38-WB

Run of the House

With their parents absent for an extended time, several siblings get to govern themselves as this sitcom premieres. Joseph Lawrence (who also continues in "American Dreams"), Kyle Howard and Sasha Barrese play young adults who have returned home post-college. Their younger sister (Margo Harshman) hopes to benefit from their constant jockeying to be acknowledged as ultimate head of the household.

9 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

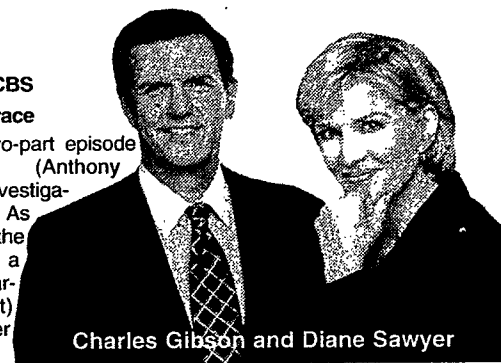

Primetime Thursday

Co-anchors Diane Sawyer and Charles Gibson continue to stay up late on Thursdays, hosting "Good Morning America" in the early hours and this program at night. They begin a new season of the newsmagazine on a day that is certain to be newsworthy, marking the second anniversary of the terrorist attacks on the United States.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

Without a Trace

In Part 1 of the two-part episode "Fallout," Malone (Anthony LaPaglia) and his investigators face dual crises. As they try to determine the whereabouts of a woman (guest star Marsha Dietlein Bennet) who vanished from her office building.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC
Dateline NBC

Dr. Phil McGraw not only has a successful syndicated series, he's back on the best-seller list with his latest book, "The Ultimate Weight Solution: The 7 Keys to Weight Loss Freedom." Expect Katie Couric to grill him on his dieting advice during their interview in this new two-hour edition. Another topic will be the big role Oprah Winfrey played in making Dr. Phil a national celebrity.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN
The 2003 Essence Music Festival

Songs and jokes are served in equal doses in this new music-and-comedy special from the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans. Steve Harvey — who also launches a new series this week — shares hosting duties with Flex Alexander ("One on One").

One), Tracee Ellis Ross ("Girlfriends") and radio personality Tom Joyner.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX
Boston Public

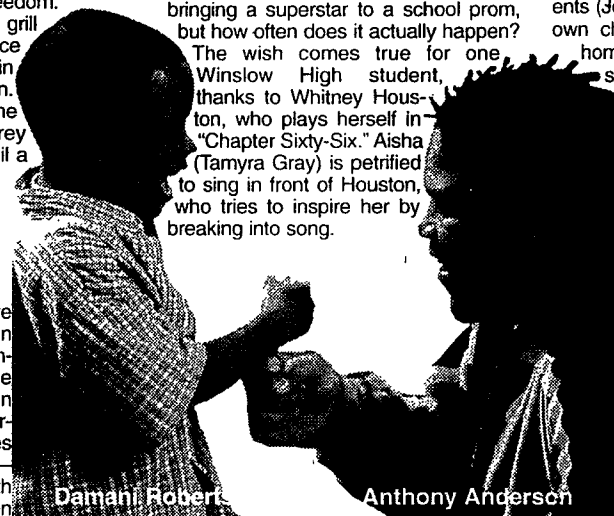

Many youngsters probably imagine bringing a superstar to a school prom, but how often does it actually happen? The wish comes true for one Winslow High student, thanks to Whitney Houston, who plays herself in "Chapter Sixty-Six." Aisha (Tamyra Gray) is petrified to sing in front of Houston, who tries to inspire her by breaking into song.

8:30 p.m. on 38-WB
All About the Andersons

The central Anderson in this debuting comedy series is Anthony ("Kangaroo Jack," "Barbershop"), playing an aspiring actor who moves back in with his parents (John Amos, Roz Ryan) to give his own child (Damani Roberts) a stable home life. Mom is happy to have her son in the house again, but grouchy Dad is another story.

The Osbournes haven't exactly been strangers to television, especially since their MTV reality series became so successful. All bets are off, though, as they get the Barbara Walters interview treatment in this installment of the newsmagazine. The journalist travels to London to talk with Ozzy and his clan — including daughter Aimee, who has tried to keep a low profile while her relatives have basked in the limelight.

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: City by the Sea

A story by the late New York Post columnist Mike McAlary fuels this atmospheric 2002 drama, with Robert De Niro doing solid work as a veteran police detective with a painful past and potentially distressing future. The son of an executed murderer, he may lose his own son (James Franco, "Spider-Man") when the younger man becomes involved in a homicide and goes on the lam. Frances McDormand and George Dzundza co-star.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

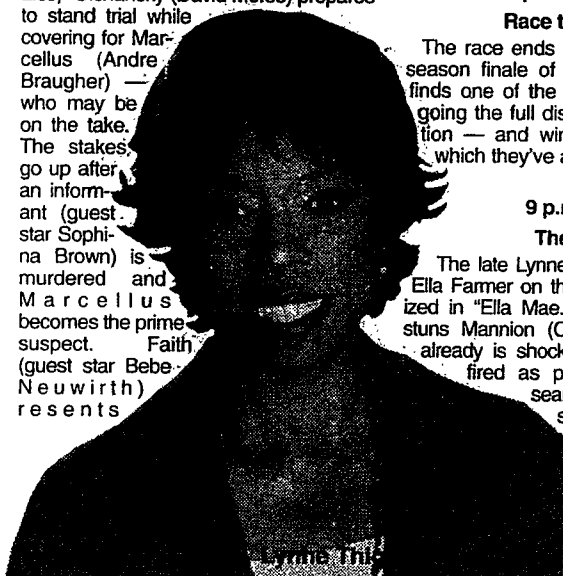

America's Most Wanted: America Fights Back

Credited with helping in more than 750 captures since the franchise began, this series launches its 17th season as host John Walsh continues his crusade to help crime victims. The first new episode focuses on the hunt for a serial kidnaper, with a re-enactment that involved closing part of the New Jersey Turnpike. Also included, to commemorate the second anniversary of the Sept. 11 attacks, is an update on the search for terrorists.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

Hack

In Part 1 of the two-part episode "True Lies," Olshansky (David Morse) prepares to stand trial while covering for Marcellus (Andre Braugher) — who may be on the take. The stakes go up after an informant (guest star Sophia Brown) is murdered and Marcellus becomes the prime suspect. Faith (guest star Bebe Neuwirth) resents Olshansky's treatment of the district attorney (guest star Wilbur Edwin Henry).

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Race to the Altar

The race ends here, as the two-hour season finale of the unscripted series finds one of the original eight couples going the full distance in the competition — and winning the wedding of which they've always dreamed.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

The District

The late Lynne Thigpen, who played Ella Farmer on this series, is memorialized in "Ella Mae." Ella's sudden death stuns Mannion (Craig T. Nelson), who already is shocked from having been fired as police chief. He then searches for Ella's missing son (guest star William Turner). Temple and DeBreno (Sean Patrick Thomas, Jonathan LaPaglia) channel their grief over Ella's passing into the hunt for a killer.

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating - one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"BULLETPROOF MONK": Amusing as the title may sound, the physically adept Chow Yun-Fat ("Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon") makes you buy into the concept of this surprisingly engaging humorous adventure. He plays the longtime protector of an ancient scroll, with Seann William Scott as his very modern, somewhat reluctant trainee who was weaned on martial-arts movies. They guard the scroll against a villain who wants to possess it at any cost. Model-turned-actress Jaime King co-stars. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; audio commentaries by director Paul Hunter, producers Charles Roven and Douglas Segal, and writers Ethan Reiff and Cyrus Voris; "making-of" documentaries; deleted scenes; alternate ending; photo gallery.  (PG-13; AS, P, V)

"THE CORE": Earth's destruction is imminent unless a courageous crew can reach the planet's center and get its core spinning again through nuclear means in a well-cast, visually spectacular adventure. Hilary Swank ("Boys Don't Cry") and Aaron Eckhart ("Erin Brockovich") play the mission's leaders, whose repartee takes some of the edge off a dangerous assignment that literally could be the end of the world for them ... and everyone else. The cast also includes Delroy Lindo, Stanley Tucci, Bruce Greenwood and Alfre Woodard. DVD extras: audio commentary by director Jon Amiel; "making-of" documentaries; deleted and extended scenes.  (PG-13; P, V)

"CONFESSIONS OF A DANGEROUS MIND": Was Chuck Barris just the creator-producer of "The Dating Game" and "The Gong Show," or was he an assassin for the CIA? That's what he claims in his autobiography, the source of this enjoyably serio-comic film that marks the directorial debut of George Clooney, who gets a supporting role. Barris is played by Sam Rockwell ("Charlie's Angels"); Drew Barrymore, Rutger Hauer and Maggie Gyllenhaal also star, with Julia Roberts in a relative cameo as a mystery woman. DVD extras: audio commentary with Clooney and cinematographer Newton Thomas Sigel; "making-of" documentary; deleted scenes; "The Real Chuck Barris"; "The Gong Show" compilation; photo gallery; Rockwell screen test.  (R; AS, P, V)

"24: SEASON TWO": Currently up for 10 Emmy Awards, the second year of the supremely tense Fox suspense series follows the path of the first by coming to video in a seven-disc DVD set. Estranged from daughter Kim (Elisha Cuthbert) and mourning the death of his wife, Jack Bauer (Kiefer Sutherland) is drawn back into counterterrorist service by a nuclear threat hanging over Los Angeles. He eventually crosses paths with Kate Warner (Sarah Wynter), whose sister (Laura Harris) may be about to marry one of the villains. DVD extras: audio commentaries on selected episodes; "making-of" documentaries; deleted scenes. * (Not rated; AS, N, P, V)

"VIEW FROM THE TOP": Everyone has to start somewhere, even an airline stewardess, as this mildly amusing comedy demonstrates. Gwyneth Paltrow plays a small-town native inspired by a veteran air hostess (Candice Bergen) to fly the hopefully friendly skies. She lands a job with a commuter service, then seeks career advancement by going through training with a larger carrier - and a peer (Christina Applegate) who isn't very trustworthy. Kelly Preston, Rob Lowe and (in a relative cameo) Mike Myers also appear. DVD extras: "making-of" documentaries; "History of the Flight Attendant."  (PG-13; AS, P)

"MALIBU'S MOST WANTED": The title star of television's "The Jamie Kennedy Experiment" transfers one of his most popular characters into the movies with this comedy, which offers enough laughs to have appeal beyond Kennedy's fan base. He plays would-be rap star Brad Gluckman - alias B-Rad - whose senator father (Ryan O'Neal) wants him out of the way during a gubernatorial bid. The politician hires actors (Taye Diggs, Anthony Anderson) to pose as gangsters and kidnap Brad, but the tables get turned. Regina Hall, Blair Underwood, Bo Derek and Kellie Martin co-star. DVD extras: audio commentary by Kennedy, Anderson, Hall, director John Whitesell, and writer-producers Fax Bahr and Adam Small; theatrical trailer; deleted scenes; alternate endings.  (PG-13; AS, P, V)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases):

"ANGER MANAGEMENT" (Sept. 16): A businessman (Adam Sandler) is wrongly sentenced by a judge to be counseled by a rage-control therapist (Jack Nicholson). (PG-13; AS, P, V)

Showtime revisits the events of 9/11 in new drama movie

After Sept. 11, 2001, many moviemakers didn't want to touch the story. Now, someone has.

Esteemed writer-producer Lionel Chetwynd ("Kissinger and Nixon") has taken a procedural, rather than judgmental, approach to his script for the Showtime film "DC 9/11: Time of Crisis." Debuting Sunday, Sept. 7, it dramatizes the reactions and responses of the innermost circle of American politicians during and following the terrorist attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon.

Previously seen as President George W. Bush on the Comedy Central series "That's My Bush!" Timothy Bottoms ("The Last Picture Show") reprises the role, and veteran actor Lawrence Pressman ("The Gathering") plays Vice President Dick Cheney. Penny Johnson Jerald ("24") portrays National Security Advisor Condoleezza Rice, and David Fonteno appears as Secretary of State Colin Powell.

Others cast in key roles include Mary Gordon Murfay (as first lady Laura Bush), John Cunningham (Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld), Gregory Itzin (Attorney General John Ashcroft), Stephen Macht (Deputy Secretary of Defense Paul Wolfowitz), Scott Alan Smith (then-White House Press Secretary Ari Fleischer) and "Star Trek" icon George Takei (Transportation Secretary Norman Mineta).

"DC 9/11: Time of Crisis" re-creates moments still vivid for many people, from the president's first comments on the attacks during his appearance at a Florida school, to his address a week later before a joint session of Congress. Chetwynd's teleplay also relies on interviews and research, thereby providing behind-closed-doors dialogue of major players in the administration strategizing following the attacks. Additionally, news footage is incorporated, used carefully so the figures aren't seen facially - until the closing sequence focuses on the real President Bush.

"There are a couple of flashes where maybe I really look like him, but you can tell the difference," Bottoms says of playing Bush again. "We had the actual footage on the set with us all the time, and we tried to match it as closely as possible. It seems to me that this film is historic, in terms of documentation of what we know, but I'm curious about how the public will receive it. My wife got very emotional and cried when she watched it.

"What really spooked me," Bottoms adds, "was the opening of the picture, where you have (Cunningham as) Donald Rumsfeld warning, 'Some time, some place, something is going to change history.' Then it happened, and the president was kept away from the White House for a while, and the CIA and the FBI didn't link up. I still find all of that very frightening."

For co-star Jerald, the role of Dr. Condoleezza Rice is a big switch from duplicitous ex-first lady Sherry Palmer on the acclaimed Fox suspense series "24." The actress says, "For this, I worked from the outside in, though I usually go in the opposite direction. I was still filming (the past season of) '24' at the same time I was doing this, so it was important to me to assimilate a certain look, so that you knew it was Condoleezza. Working from there, I tried to find the similarities between her and Penny Johnson Jerald."

Jerald also determined certain links between Dr. Rice and Sherry. "They're a lot alike in terms of intellect and having great presence, both being very powerful women. The information I gathered from the Internet indicated that Condoleezza truly believes in what she stands for, enough to have changed political parties. She does her homework, and she deserves the position she has. When I got to the first rehearsal for this in Toronto and walked into a room otherwise filled with men, I knew exactly who she was. That was the key for me. You strip yourself of gender and of race, and you're one of the fellows - though hopefully, you look better than they do."

Bottoms worried that having played President Bush previously might work against him as he pursued the "DC 9/11" job. "I was sort of afraid," he admits, "because I had done (the same part in) a situation comedy. I didn't think they'd want me for this, and I was really sweating it out; after three auditions, I finally got it. Then I was really hesitant, but I decided, 'No, I'm going to do this for all those victims.' I hope to break out of this presidential mode, though, and do other things. I'm scared to death that nothing else is going to come my way."

Nevertheless, Bottoms was intent on having the "DC 9/11: Time of Crisis" experience. "I want the public to know that a lot of people in Hollywood are very proud of the way this country has taken the reins in the aftermath of 9/11," he says. "Some of us have to take a stand, and I'm proud to be a part of that."

While "DC 9/11: Time of Crisis" recalls the 2001 tragedy through dramatization, other commemorative programs will use a straight documentary approach. Immediately following the "DC 9/11" movie, Showtime encores two of its "Reflections From Ground Zero" short subjects offering perspectives on the effects the terrorist attacks had on various people.

Timothy Bottoms portrays President George W. Bush in the new drama movie "DC 9/11: Time of Crisis" Sunday on Showtime. He previously played the president in a Comedy Central series.
